Rights Bill Called 'War Nerves'

Foreign Aid Headed For Another Jolt

Talk Of Whacking Off Half Billion Dollars Reported

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's foreign aid program seemed likely today to get a new jolt even as Congress completes action on a $3,367,083,000 bill setting aid ceilings for the coming year.

Members of a House Appropriations subcommittee were talking in terms of whacking off another half billion dollars or so when it comes to voting on the appropriations bill to supply the actual cash.

This would amount to a billion-dollar cut below Eisenhower's $3,865,000,000 request, in the face of a special presidential plea to congressional leaders Monday night. House Republican Leader Martin (Mass) predicted that Eisenhower will have to call Congress into special session if it cuts too deep into foreign aid.

Passed Senate

The $3,367,083,000 authorization bill, a preliminary to the appropriations, passed the Senate by voice vote last night and is due for House action today.

Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio), a floor manager for the measure, said he foresaw no trouble in getting it through the House and on to the White House for Eisenhower's signature.

That would pave the way for the House Appropriations subcommittee, headed by Rep. Passman (D-La), to vote out a money bill.

No Comment

Subcommittee members were not commenting publicly in advance of their vote. But some of their private remarks about the aid program would make $2,800,000,000 seem like a top figure to come out of the group. Passman himself has made no secret of his opposition to the foreign aid program since it first started.

Last year Congress cut more than a billion dollars below Eisenhower's aid request.

But aid supporters say a similar dollar cut this year would in effect be much more severe because Eisenhower's request, at $3,800,000,000, is already way below the nearly five billion dollars he sought for the 12 months ended last June 30.

Dio's Boys Refuse Tell Of Rackets

Trio Pleas Fifth Amendment Before Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry Davidoff, convicted extortionist and pal of racketeer Johnny Dio, refused to answer today when asked whether he has robbed members of Teamsters Union Local 258 in New York. He is the local's secretary-treasurer.

Others refusing to testify at the hearings this morning were Joseph Curio, of Flushing, who succeeded Dio as New York regional director of the old AFL-United Automobile Workers, and George Baker, of Brooklyn, also a prime mover in UAW-AFL New York operations.

Davidoff pleaded to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee that answers to this and 43 other questions might incriminate him.

His stand brought a blast from the committee's chairman, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark), against scoundrels the senator said have infiltrated organized labor.

Davidoff, bespectacled and mild appearing, refused to tell the committee whether he negotiated sweetheart contracts with employers. The term is applied in labor circles to contracts which provide no improvement for workers and are chiefly of benefit to the employer.

He read off his Fifth Amendment pleas from a prepared statement.

Davidoff was finally excused after taking the Fifth 44 times. On only three occasions did he vary from his self-incrimination plea in response to questions.

That was when McClellan asked him first whether he was an American citizen and second whether he was proud of it. Both times, Davidoff replied: "Yes, sir."

McClellan also asked: "Do you believe those who take the Fifth Amendment are worthy to be associated with the labor movement?"

Again, Davidoff answered, "Yes, sir."

Davidoff was the first of a group of alleged Dio confederates called by the committee today in what it described as an attempt to trace their role in boosting James R. Hoffa's union powers.

Move Made To Destroy Stalemate

House Republicans Renew Talk Special Meet In November

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights conflict in Congress settled down to a political war of nerves today with House Republicans renewing talk of a special session in November to settle the issue.

As adjournment fever gripped Congress, a new move was made by Rep. Keating (R-NY) to break the stalemate and get the Senate-passed bill headed toward the House floor for a vote.

The bill, with its controversial jury trial amendment, rested on the desk of Speaker Rayburn of Texas. Objections yesterday barred direct House action, and Rayburn has not yet moved to send it to the Rules Committee to chart a new course.

Keating, chief strategist for GOP civil rights forces, addressed a letter to Chairman Smith (D-Va) of the Rules Committee asking him to take the initiative and schedule hearings on the bill.

Smith is an avowed foe of any civil rights legislation. At his committee office yesterday, aides said they did not know Smith's whereabouts.

In the likely event Smith ignores the request, Keating drafted a follow-up resolution to send the bill to a Senate-House conference for rewriting more nearly to President Eisenhower's specifications.

The resolution would have to be approved by the Rules Committee and subsequently voted on by the House.

The House yesterday blocked rival Republican and Democratic moves either to send the bill to conference as Republicans want, or to accept the Senate bill along lines advocated by Democrats. Both moves required unanimous consent.

West After Clarification Of Disarmament Plan

By WATSON SIMS

LONDON (AP)—Western disarmament delegates met in private with Soviet spokesman Valerian Zorin today to try and clarify Russia's present stand on disarmament.

The meeting, reported by Russian sources, apparently was designed to clarify a sharp speech yesterday in which Zorin accused the United States of over-optimism.

The speech left Western delegates to the United Nations Disarmament subcommittee puzzled.

They agreed that on any account it was discouraging. But they were mystified by the fact that Zorin seemed to be talking about two different things as if they were one and the same.

Most of Zorin's fire was concentrated on Western insistence that a comprehensive reduction of military manpower would have to await settlement of such political problems as reunification of Germany.

But the West had made clear all along that this would not apply to reductions involved in the kind of first-step disarmament treaty which has been discussed at the present conference.

Russia and the Western nations—Britain, the United States, Canada and France—had agreed that in the first-step treaty Russia and the United States would reduce their armies to 2,500,000 each. This was a step to be taken with no political string whatever.

Later on, the West had proposed, Russia and the United States might cut back their armies in two further stages—first to 2,100,000 and then to 1,700,000 each.

Youths Defy Warning; To Tour Peiping

BULLETIN

MOSCOW (AP) — Forty-one American youths defied the United States government today and left for a forbidden tour of Red China.

Just before the Moscow-Peiping trans-Siberian express train pulled out, two Americans withdrew from the trip. Two others said they might decide later to catch up with the group by flying to Peiping.

MOSCOW (AP)—Most of the American youths seeking to visit Red China stuck by their travel plans today despite a strong warning from the U.S. State Department against making the trip.

The State Department communication resulted in an anxious, 2½-hour meeting by the Americans early today. Several indicated they were wavering in their decisions to make the junket, but at the end of the meeting 46 still were on the list to board the Trans-Siberian Express at 3:25 p.m. local time to begin the journey to Peiping.

The sharp State Department warning that going on the three-week, Communist-sponsored trip might lead to trouble with the U.S. law brought one withdrawal from the original list. Orville Schmidt of Frankfurt, Germany, and Marion, S.D., dropped out but two other Americans decided to go. They are Selby Tucker Jr., Pass Christian, Miss., and Dean Hoxsey, Los Angeles.

The early morning huddle of the Americans was called after receipt of a note specifically directed to them by Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter. It was delivered to their Moscow hotel by a U.S. Embassy official.

Herter said those making the trip might be violating the U.S. Trading With the Enemy Act, adding, "This constitutes a criminal offenses under our law."

Soviet Boss Happy Over German Tour

Khrushchev Sees Closer Friendship With East Germans

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev left East Berlin today saying he was "very satisfied" with his tour of Communist East Germany.

Khrushchev told a sleepy-looking crowd at East Berlin's railway station that his one-week visit would bind the German satellite nation ever more closely to Russia "in friendship."

"All members of the Soviet party and government delegation have been very satisfied with the visit," he said.

Looked Tired

Kruschev, accompanied by Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, took a special train to nearby Schoenfeld Airport.

Khrushchev, who was up late last night at a farewell reception in the Russian Embassy, looked tired and sour at the railway station sendoff.

The Russian leader broke into broad smiles, however, when Walter Ulbricht, chief of the East German Communist party, spoke about the only dispute known to have come up between the Russians and the East German regime.

'Better Corn'

"We promise to follow your advice and grow corn better from now on," said Ulbricht with a smile.

Khrushchev, a self-styled corn-raising expert who got into arguments with German farm specialists on the quality of their crops, cut in on Ulbricht: "That means more meat, more bacon and more butter."

Senators Doubt Action On Postal Rates Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two GOP senators indicated today that action will be deferred until next year on a House-passed bill to boost postal rates.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland, California, said that because adjournment is near, he doubts the Senate will act this year to raise the first-class letter rate to 4 cents a nounce, and airmail to 7 cents, effective October 1.

Other raises also would be provided, to increase postal revenues by 1960 an estimated 527½ million dollars a year.

Sen. Carlson (Kan), ranking Republican on the Senate Post Office Committee, said he was sure the committee would have to hold hearings.

Favor Passing Bill

But there were reports some Senate Democrats want to pass the rate bill so that a pay increase for postal workers would have a better chance of being signed by President Eisenhower.

Eisenhower has asked for rate increases but he has opposed general pay increases for federal employes at this time.

The House, which already had approved pay increases for postal workers, passed the rate increase measure late yesterday, 256-129.

Voting for it were 85 Democrats and 171 Republicans; against it were 125 Democrats and 4 Republicans.

The principal debate in the House came on raising the letter rate to four cents.

Rep. Pfost (D-Idaho) said: "The Republican administration seems to have lost sight of the fact that the postal service was set up as a service to the people."

106-56 Vote

Rep. Murray (D-Tenn), chairman of the House Post Office Committee, argued that first-class rates had not been raised since 1932. By a 106-56 standing vote, the House defeated an amendment to eliminate the raise on first-class mail.

The increases also included:

Raising airmail cards to 5 cents and post cards to 3 cents.

Boosting second-class mail—mostly advertising material—from 1½ to 2½ cents per piece on the bulk minimum rate.

The House made the third-class increase effective this year instead of in a two-step increase by 1959 and put a limitation on losses incurred in handling second-class mail. Additional revenue from these changes has not been estimated.

Humphrey New Steel Chairman

PITTSBURGH (AP) — George M. Humphrey, former secretary of the Treasury, today was named board chairman of National Steel Corp.

Humphrey, one of the founders of the corporation in 1927, was a board member and chairman of the firm's executive committee when he was appointed a member of President Eisenhower's Cabinet in 1953. He resigned recently.

Violence Starts As Milk Strike Hits New York

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A milk strike was on in a broad area of upstate New York today. Violence started even before the strike began.

The Dairy Farmers of America posted pickets at midnight at dairy plants in the Albany area. DFA officials claimed some Teamsters Union truck drivers refused to cross the lines.

Support of the Teamsters could mean a successful strike.

The DFA and another splinter group, the Farmers Union, are striking for higher prices for their milk.

Police said five men last night dumped two cans of milk that had just been delivered to a platform outside the Daisy Dairy in Glens Falls. The men escaped.

A picket at a dairy in Albany was struck but not seriously hurt by one of the dairy's trucks early today, Albany police said.

There was no clear-cut indication of how many farmers planned to join the strikers.

The major producer organizations are opposed. The two striking groups claim a total membership of 9,000. There are about 45,000 dairy farmers in the state and 55,000 in the seven-state area that comprises the New York milkshed.

Senate Praises Sen. McCarthy In Formal Ceremony

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate, which voted in 1954 to condemn some of the conduct of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis), pays formal tribute to him in death today.

McCarthy, one of the most controversial figures in the nation's political history, died May 2. His body was placed in state in the Senate chamber, and a funeral service was conducted from the very Senate rostrum from which the roll call vote to criticize him was taken Dec. 2, 1954.

In today's ceremony the Senate lays aside all other business to permit members to deliver speeches of eulogy to his memory.

McCarthy's widow, Jean, was assigned an honor seat in the gallery.

Girard Transferred

TOKYO—(INS)—Army Specialist Third Class William S. Girard was transferred today from Camp Whittington to Camp Drew, 10 miles away, and restricted to his company area until his manslaughter trial begins August 26.

Challenged To Duel

LONDON — (INS) — Lord Altrincham, who got bopped by an elderly man last week after criticizing Queen Elizabeth, disclosed today he had received a second challenge to a duel.

Steeves Story Being Probed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Saturday Evening Post has canceled plans to publish an article on the 54-day disappearance of Lt. David Steeves in the High Sierra because of what it called discrepancies in his story.

In addition, the Air Force is making a "thorough but routine" investigation of the 23-year-old pilot's story.

Writer Clay Blair Jr. was scheduled to do the story, the spokesman said, adding: "He went out to the Sierras, returned with Steeves to the cabin where Steeves said he survived for three weeks and interviewed Steeves at great length. Blair reported that he had detected numerous discrepancies in Steeves' story."

Plan For Handling Inferior Tobacco Hiked

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Agriculture Department has enlarged its new "pool" plan for handling inferior grades of flue-cured tobacco.

The department set up a special pool to handle tobacco crops containing more than one-third of several tobacco types which are supported at only half the rate for normal tobacco.

Another pool handles tobacco containing less than one-third of the inferior types. The government sells tobacco from these pools after the auction season closes and will return any net gains to the farmers.

Graham Claims Children Have 'Giants' To Beat

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Graham says the nation's youth—like the biblical David who slew the giant Goliath — also have "giants" of their own to combat.

Among these are anger, carelessness, lust, disobedience and laziness, he says.

Urging the nation's youth to follow a Christian way of life and form clubs for Christ, Graham said: "It will give you a new challenge for life, something for you to do."

"Put the principles of Christianity to work, but don't come to Christ if you're lazy," he told the young people. "There is no room for the loafer in his army."

There were 720 "decisions for Christ" at Graham's call. This raised the total so far in his New York crusade to 45,864. Total attendance since the crusade opened May 15 stands at 1,512,800.

House Committee Frees Robert Ross

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Military Operations subcommittee today found Robert Tripp Ross free of any "wrongful act" in connection with military contracts to a family firm while he was assistant secretary of defense.

But it said government contract awards to members of a high government official's family "are repugnant to public policy," and Ross' fault lay in a "failure to realize" this.

Streetcars Idle:

Reds Declare Poland Motor Strike Ended

LODZ, Poland (AP)—Communist authorities declared today the three-day-old transport strike which crippled Poland's second biggest city has ended, but many streetcars still remained in the barns.

Armed militiamen, who had been riding the cars earlier today on guard against further outbreaks, disappeared shortly after authorities said in a communique the stoppage was over.

Women streetcar workers said police fired shots into the air as they approached the main depot before dawn today. During the night a fight broke out between streetcar operators and a group of Communist party workers.

Communist authorities sent in riot squads last night to try to force settlement of the strike. Officials were openly concerned as reports spread that the Lodz dispute had touched off sympathy strikes in other Polish cities.

Communist authorities ordered out the riot squads after a day of negotiations between the strikers and a mission from Warsaw had failed.

Officials and members of workers' councils who went into the transport depots yesterday to press for a settlement were hooted down.

Israeli Writer Given Release

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Egyptians today released an Israeli sailor-writer they took off the Danish freighter Birgitte Toft July 22 as she sailed through the Suez Canal en route to Israel's port of Haifa.

The crewman, Ralph Eylon, was sent across the Gaza Strip border this morning, it was announced.

Egyptian authorities took Eylon off the ship, confiscated his camera and turned him over to Egypt's intelligence department on grounds they were protecting "the security of the state."

FBI Agents Find $15,000 Of Accused Spy's Fortune

NEW YORK (AP) — FBI agents have found $15,000 cached in a Manhattan bank by accused Soviet spy Rudolf Abel. They are reportedly hunting for much more.

Newspaper reports said Abel, a 55-year-old colonel in the Soviet secret police, may have had anywhere from $50,000 to a million dollars expense money buried in Manhattan, Brooklyn, New Hyde Park, N.Y., Poughkeepsie, N.Y., and Quincy, Mass.

Abel had $6,000 on him when arrested last June as an illegal alien. Another $15,000 was found in a safe deposit box in a Manhattan bank. The box was rented under the name of Alan Winston.

The new find was disclosed yesterday.

There was speculation that the government might put a tax lien on the money. This would call on Abel to prove that it was not earned income and thus provide a clue as to its source.

Abel still was without a lawyer to defend him on spy charges. He was given a further court postponement until Friday to try to get one.

Brooklyn Federal Court Judge Matthew T. Abruzzo said he will appoint counsel if Abel is unable to find one.

U. S. Officials Ordered Out Syria

Americans Accused Of Overthrowing Government

DAMASCUS (AP) — Three American Embassy officials were under orders to get out of Syria today following Syrian charges that the United States had plotted to overthrow the government of President Shukri Kuwatly.

A Foreign Office spokesman announced last night the three officials had been tagged persona non grata (unwelcome) and that their immediate recall had been asked.

The three Americans were identified as Lt. Col. Robert W. Malloy, military attache; Howard E. Stone, second secretary for political affairs; and Vice Consul Francis Getton.

Robert A. Lincoln, embassy press attache, announced the three men would leave Syria today and added:

"The American Embassy can accept the Syrian request only under protest since the allegations against the three gentlemen are fabrications."

In making the charge, the Syrian government issued a statement saying military authorities had unveiled "an American plot to overthrow Syria's present regime." It alleged that the United States had been willing to furnish between 300 and 400 million dollars in aid if a new government would make peace with Israel.

The statement said the United States had sent its "number one expert on coups d'etat" to mastermind the conspiracy and identified him as Stone. It added that Stone had collaborated with Col. Adib Shishekly, former Syrian dictator, and Col. Ibrahim Husseini, Syria's military attache in Rome. Shishekly was sentenced in absentia last February to life imprisonment on charges of leading a subversive group.

Official sources said Husseini was being recalled from Rome.

In Rome, Husseini denied any connection with any conspiracy and said he did not know Stone.

Soviet Middle East Arms Shipment Hits 370 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Total Soviet arms shipments to the Middle East so far now amount to about 370 million dollars, according to information in official hands today.

The first shipments were made about two years ago after Egypt signed an agreement to get Czech arms.

Yemen is the latest Iron Curtain customer.

Under a deal apparently made when the Prince of Yemen visited Moscow 10 months ago, the tiny oil-rich territory on the Red Sea heel of the Arabian Peninsula's boot will get an estimated 20 million dollars in armed vehicles, guns and aircraft.

Egypt, according to this data, still can claim the lion's share — more than 200 millions, some of it in brand new Soviet-built MIG19 jets.

Most of the remaining 150 millions went to Syria, with a little left over for Afghanistan.

The free world, meanwhile, has its Middle East arms customers too—Israel, Jordan, Saudi Arabia and Lebanon.

Ike To Clear Some Newsmen To Go To Chinese Mainland

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration is expected to clear some American newsmen to go to the Chinese mainland later this year despite the asserted existence of a "quasi state of war" with Red China.

The phrase was used in a letter by Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter to American youths in Moscow who have been talking about traveling to the Chinese Communist capital of Peiping.

Officials said that it was not intended to suggest any hardening of the already firm policy of maximum boycott which the United States has toward Chinese Communism. One authority said it was simply "the most apt description of the situation that exists."

Herter's letter raised a question about what the administration intends to do about the problem of newsmen going to Red China. State Department officials advised against confusing that issue with the government's opposition to a Red Chinese trip by the Americans who have been attending a Moscow youth festival.

The specific distinction made by these officials was that newsmen would be able to report to the American people on conditions in Red China.

U. S. To Give Poland Wheat

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States today formally signed an agreement to sell Poland an additional $46,100,000 worth of wheat and cottoh

The U. S. agreed on June 7 to provide the communist government with approximately $48,900,000 in aid and today's agreement brings the total amount to $95,000,000.

As a result of today's signing, Poland will be able to buy with Polish zlotys some 400,000 metric tons of wheat and about 24,000 metric tons of cotton.

The agreement was signed at a brief ceremony by acting deputy under secretary of state Thorsten V. Kalijarvi, who negotiated the agreement, and Polish ambassador Romuald Spasowski.

Desi Calls Party Girl's Story 'Baloney'

By JACK LEFLER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "A lot of baloney" is the way television star Desi Arnaz describes a lurid story about him in Confidential magazine.

"I don't remember meeting the lady, and I guess I'm being kind in calling her a lady," Arnaz said when informed that Hollywood prostitute Ronnie Quillan testified she wrote a story for the magazine about an alleged illicit interlude with him.

Was In Army

Mrs. Quillan testified yesterday as a prosecution witness in the criminal libel trial of Confidential that she and Arnaz were together in the swank southern California resort town of Palm Springs in October 1944.

Arnaz, who has since skyrocketed to television fame with his wife Lucile (I Love Lucy) Ball, said at Del Mar race track when informed of the testimony: "I was in the Army in 1944 and I think I was somewhere up north. I don't remember being in Palm Springs. From the pictures I've seen of her, I don't think I could have done anything like that."

Other disclosures during yesterday's court session:

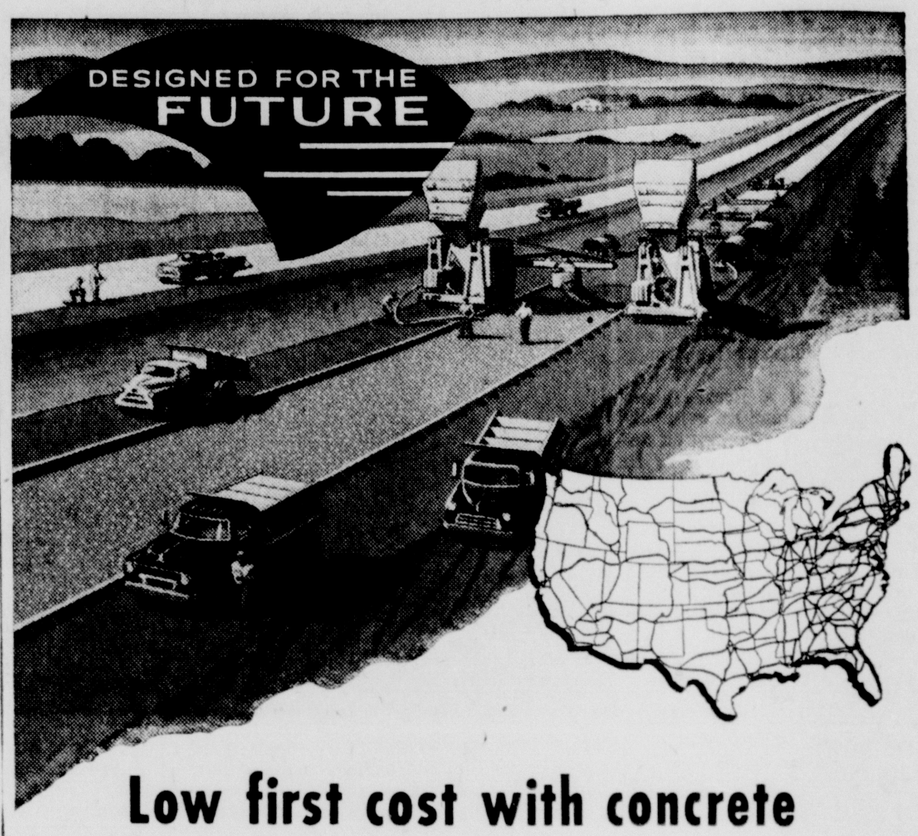

Wanted Stories

1. Mrs. Quillan testified that Confidential's publisher Robert Harrison told her he "wanted stories on the sexual activities of celebrities in Hollywood, and the more lewd and lascivious stories the more colorful the magazine." Mrs. Quillan said he told her to contact other girls and help them prepare affidavits because "he needed verification of the fact these girls had had dates with celebrities."

2. Actor Sonny Tufts was the target of a scandal story in Whisper, a magazine owned by Confidential, another witness testified.

3. The 41-year-old Mrs. Quillan, whose stormy career in Hollywood has taken her to jail many times, told the jury that she wrote a story for Confidential about her marriage to singer Herb Jeffries. Harrison, she added, paid her $1,500 for the stories about Arnaz and Jeffries.

Low first cost with concrete

Federal funds will pay 90% of the building costs of the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways. So it is only logical to pave the sections in this state with the very best paving material—that's safe, smooth-riding and durable concrete. Concrete usually costs no more to build than other types of pavement designed for the same traffic load—especially important on the new roads of the Interstate System designed for 1975's heavy traffic.

Don't be misled by incomplete statistics. Where lower cost is reported for other pavement, it is usually because it was designed for lighter loads and shorter life, or because the extra cost of subbase preparation and grading was not reported as part of paving cost.

Dulles Cites 'Booby Trap' Of Russians

WASHINGTON— (INS) —Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has warned Britain and France to be on their guard against a Russian "booby trap" that could turn the London disarmament talks into a major diplomatic defeat for the Western Allies.

Dulles is fearful the Kremlin may come up with a maneuver that would make it appear to the world the Russians were accepting the Western air-ground inspection plan when, in fact, they had no such intentions.

The U. S. cabinet officer has told the Western Allies that therefore there can be great danger for the West in any partial acceptance by Russia of the "open skies" proposal.

Asian Flu Vaccine Program Pushed By Health Heads

By HARLEY MURRAY

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The "crash" program for producing Asian flu vaccine has been stepped up and officials now expect to reach the goal of 60 million doses by mid-December instead of February 1.

This was learned as representatives of 13 professional and voluntary health organizations gathered in Washington to meet today with Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney to discuss steps to avert a nation-wide epidemic of the virus this fall or winter.

A production stepup was made possible by a switch from a "Polyvalent" vaccine — which protects against several types of influenza — to a "Monovalent" vaccine which is good only against one particular strain.

Officials said the single-type vaccine can be produced more quickly, and also is more effective against Asian flu than the vaccine designed for several different strains.

The six manufacturers of the vaccine switched emphasis to the Monovalent vaccine because of fear, as expressed by Burney, that an explosive epidemic could sweep the country.

Health authorities warned that an epidemic could spread from coast to coast within a month. They added there is no effective treatment for the illness, which is not considered fatal, but antibiotics are important to combat possible more serious complications.

The Asian strain has affected a very high percentage of the population in the Far East and other countries of the world. The U. S. could be seriously hindered even by a comparatively low attack rate of 10 per cent, officials said.

A spokesman for the Publci Health Service said that maximum production of the vaccine, scheduled to get under way by October 1 or October 15, is five million doses a week. A total of 502,000 doses have already been released and the drug manufacturers are expected to reach a total of around eight million doses by October.

Meanwhile, the manufacturers are exchanging samples and information with the National Institutes of Health in order to avoid any crisis such as occurred when a faulty batch of Salk Polio vaccine was produced.

TV, Movies May Cost Junior Restless Nights

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Does your 11-year-old sleep well? Or does he toss and turn and wake up "bushed?"

Too much TV-watching or too many movies may be the cause of Junior's restless nights, according to a report from the National Education Assn. (NEA).

The report, published by a joint committee of the NEA and the American Medical Assn., says that recent studies on the sleep patterns of children show that when a child is emotionally disturbed — either pleasurably or painfully — he is likely to have a restless night.

In a booklet entitled "Sleep and Children," the joint NEA-AMA committee summarizes studies on the sleep needs of children.

"One author found," the booklet states, "that after viewing motion pictures a large percentage of the children studied showed a marked increase in motility (movement). In fact, the loss of sleep was so great in amount as to be 'positively detrimental to health and conduct.' This pronounced effect was noted particularly in children over 10 years of age."

The booklet points out that while there can be no doubt of the educational advantages of such modern media as movies, radio and television, careful consideration should be given not only to the type of material, but also to the number of hours allotted:

"First, it would seem unwise to allow children to spend so many hours at the movies or before the television screen that they do not have time for home study without interfering with their normal number of hours of sleep.

"Secondly, movies disturb the normal sleep pattern of children regardless of the type of subject matter. In more than half of the children studied, this disturbance in the sleep patterns was severe enough to be detrimental to health and disposition."

Other observations show that "sleeplessness or restless sleep may be erroneously laid at the door of severe mental activity or mental fatigue."

Punishment and threats of punishment have no place in the hours just before bedtime, says the booklet. Being "put to bed" is an undesirable form of punishment and should never be used, for it will result in a rebellious attitude toward going to bed and to sleep.

Senators Put Family First In Fight On Delinquency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Subcommittee on Juvenile Delinquency goes along with most of the nation's educators in contending that the home is the first line of defense against delinquency.

In a recent report published after 3½ years of investigation, the committee said:

"If society is to achieve any really effective curtailment of law violation, it must come largely through the medium of the family since it is there that the attitudes and conduct are bred, out of which antisocial lives develop."

The youth activities of church and school, the committee said, "promise too little effect upon personal adjustment unless they function through or with the cooperation of the family."

"Better children," the report said, "can come only from better parents. There is not much that can be done en masse for children already badly maladjusted . . .

"The children of parents who are disturbed, insecure, neurotic and badly mated may nevertheless be spared some of the psychic injuries to which these parents have been exposed."

"A really constructive approach to this problem comes from an increasingly effective family social work — the goal being to strengthen family life through assisting individuals and family units insofar as possible to improve the circumstances essential to wholesome family living."

The committee cautioned against "parental schools" to which the mothers and fathers of erring children are sent in some states for compulsory education in better parenthood.

"It has been generally agreed," the committee said, "that this approach has . . . resulted in intensifying the guilt feelings of those whose offspring have gone astray . . ."

"Alcoholism and other problems may assume some importance . . . through the imitative habits of offspring," the report said. "However, the emotional atmosphere, the hostilities and the inadequacies expressed in the parent-child relationships (in some homes) do greater injury to the child . . ."

Convention Delegates to Tell Woodmen of Society's Progress

To inform Woodmen of their Society's progress, numerous meetings are being held during August throughout the country. Officers and delegates to the recent national Woodmen convention are reporting on its activities. These reports highlight impressive gains the Society has made since its last biennial convention in 1955.

These gains include:

Insurance in force gains: $23,879,548, protection now totalling $605,062,612, a new high.

Gains in assets: $10,932,725, bringing assets to a new high of $209,945,113.

Benefits paid members the past two years: $24,876,673. Total since the Society's founding in 1890: $495,862,066.

In 1956 more than 427,000 members received the largest savings refund in history, total $2,200,000.

Reserve ratio (assets over liabilities) still greater than that of any other insurance organization.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the Flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

It Takes Bravery

ONLY TIME WILL show the full range of attributes possessed by Neil H. McElroy, named by President Eisenhower to succeed the resigning Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson. But at this stage there can be no doubt of his bravery. A man who undertakes a top cabinet job in the Washington of this era is either brave or utterly foolhardy. And McElroy has given no indication that he is anybody's fool. He must therefore be brave because if he is confirmed in his new post: He will be giving up a relatively high-paying job as president of Procter and Gamble, soap manufacturers, to take a lower-paying assignment with the government.

HE PROBABLY will have to divest himself of any stockholdings he has, in order to avoid any conflict of interest between his public and private activities. Most likely he will have to maintain two homes—one in Cincinnati and another in Washington—on less money than he now has to keep one going. Instead of worrying just about what his company board of directors may do he will have to worry over what some 531 U.S. lawmakers may say and do relative to his operations. On top of this he will have to adjust his actions to the White House, to his fellow cabinet officers, to the various agencies and departments which affect his own field. And he will have to worry over what foreign governments think of the defense department's pronouncements and activities.

HE MAY FIND HE'S spending as much time answering congressional and other inquiries about his activities as he is performing them. He may discover, too, that he'll be criticized as inaccessible if he sticks to business and doesn't talk publicly, or or that he'll be just as roundly assailed as a "pop-off" if he talks freely. In short, he'll be playing a course that's nearly all sand traps and rough and practically no fairway. It takes nerve. And after he's chopped his way along for a while, McElroy may find himself dreaming of the old days in Cincinnati, when, by comparison, it was all fairway.

THE PRACTICE line, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party," probably is shortened for Communist typists by omitting "good" since the leaders feel there is no reason to be too particular.

Some Can Buy More

THE GOOD OLD pre-depression days have been the object of considerable nostalgia lately. Americans have been looking back, often with a touch of regret, at that gay and supposedly golden era. A new report by the Department of Commerce puts the matter in perspective. The Commerce Department figures show that the average American is, in fact able to buy almost 50 per cent more goods now than he could buy in the high-riding 20s. Prices and taxes have gone up tremendously since those days, but average income has risen even faster. Like most statistics, these wilt somewhat under careful inspection. The figures are for national per capita averages, which means that not everyone is anything like 50 per cent ahead in purchasing power as against 1922. The greatest gain has been recorded by factory workers. By way of contrast, those who live on pensions and other fixed incomes are having difficulty because, for the most part, such income has lagged behind the rise in prices. What it all adds up to is that, though that mythical "averge" American can buy almost 50 per cent more consumer goods than he could buy in 1929, inflation could play hob with the figures. It already is putting a painful squeeze on some people, and in some degree it is affecting all of us. Inflation, far from being a vague threat, is a real danger that can gobble up our economic advances unless it is kept under control.

WHEN ACTRESS Vivien Leigh was ejected from the House of Lords for breaking a rule against outsiders speaking she at least proved that although a woman doesn't always get her way she can hardly be stopped from having her say.

Vital Projects Are Lost To Public View

WASHINGTON — Our leadership in disarmament, which seems to be making slow but sure progress in London, is a matter not only of hope but of national pride. Back home here in Congress are other projects related to the cause of peace and, in effect, part of the whole big job.

One of them, our foreign economic and military aid program, is under a threat of being curtailed beyond the need at this time. But let us look first at two other projects which have not won the public attention, and thus the emphasis, that they deserve.

One was almost lost sight of in the midst of other measures that were rushed through the Senate last week.

Far transcending in importance the time taken to approve it is the resolution sponsored by Senator John J. Sparkman which put the Senate on record as favoring creation of a permanent United Nations police force to keep the peace.

SUCH A POLICE force was, as we know, authorized in the Charter of the United Nations adopted 11 years ago in San Francisco. But nothing has ever been done about it.

New impetus came from creation of a United Nations Emergency Force for the Middle East last year after the attack on Egypt by Israel, Britain and France, and the success of that temporary police force.

The Sparkman resolution, which will be laid before the U.N. General Assembly in its forthcoming session, welcomes creation of that Middle East emergency force and urges that "a force of a similar character be made a permanent arm of the United Nations."

It also recommends that it be made up of troops from members of the United Nations which are not members of the U.N. Security Council, as is the present Middle East force.

ANOTHER important measure pending in Congress is that to promote the peaceful development of the atom through the so-called "atoms-for-peace" plan originally proposed by President Eisenhower. The international agency already has been set up. Last week the House passed the bill for United States participation and sent it to the Senate for action.

In connection with another important aspect of our foreign policy, there is some difficulty ahead. That is the mutual security program of economic and military aid to our allies among free nations.

In its original form as initiated by former President Truman—the Marshall Plan—it was as bold as the "atoms-for-peace" proposal and our latest proposal at the London disarmament negotiations in which we offered to open for inspection all of North America north of the Rio Grande, along with NATO nations in Europe, in exchange for inspection of Russia and her Eastern European satellites.

Through this aid program we helped to strengthen the economies of our free world allies so they were able to resist Communist encroachment and remain free. They still need our help.

PRESIDENT Eisenhower's program called for $3,864,000,000. In authorization bills, the Senate cut this to $3,617,000,000, and the House still further to $3,116,833,000. A joint Senate-House Conference Committee compromised the difference and approved $3,366,000,000, which is expected to be approved finally.

However, a bill actually appropriating the money still must be passed. In preparing this, the House Appropriations Committee is whittling down the authorized amount, with forecasts that, unless the whittling is checked, the eventual figure approved by Congress will be around $3 billion even.

The President regards this as too little. He is likewise interested in his recommendation that the emphasis be switched from direct grants to more loans in foreign aid, and that in order to give leeway for operation, the lending authority be spread over three years, without the necessity of getting authority every year. The House reduced this period to one year, and the conference committee compromised at two years.

THE REASON for our mutual aid program was so forcefully expressed by the President at his last news conference that it is worth repeating. He said:

"We are trying, through our ability to lend money, both private and, where necessary, public capital to help other nations understand what freedom means to men, that they can prosper under it, and that they can keep their self-respect, they can keep their individual liberties and rights as they do prosper; that they do not have to bow the neck to dictatorial rule.

"If they are not helped, I see no prospect that they can ever learn that lesson. . . . Now this thing, to my mind, has gotten to the point that it is just the welfare of the United States, and I am not quarreling about the last dollar, but I am saying we should show an attitude of generosity, of readiness to cooperate, getting ourselves in a position over specifically a number of years that we can cooperate."

U. S. Gets Air Strength During Arms Talks

WASHINGTON— (NEA) — Just in case the London disaarmament talks fail and the U.S. is still forced to maintain a strong, armed posture, America's prime defense will not be found weakened.

In fact, while the disarmament talks have been grabbing the headlines, the Strategic Air Command has been quietly pushing programs which will bolster its deterrent strength. These developments were revealed during the recent convention of the Air Force Association.

SAC is now well into planning for the day when it will receive its first shipment of intermediate-range ballistic missiles with ranges of 1,500 miles. "The day they deliver the first operational missile to us we will be prepared to use it," a SAC spokesman says.

That date will be several years before the delivery of the 5,000-mile intercontinental missile. But even then manned bombers will still be an important part of SAC, it is believed.

Phasing out the manned bombers and phasing long-range missiles into SAC's mission, of course, is a precarious job, with an error one way or another likely to leave the country dangerously exposed. But the job does not look as difficult as it was first thought to be.

SAC's strategically placed bomber bases will be converted to missile bases. This will not require a great deal of physical change.

MISSILES will be delivered to bases via cargo aircraft so the long landing strips will still be needed. Larger storage areas may have to be added.

The big problem emerging from this planning is the expected difficulty of holding in service the missile experts who will have to man these new weapons. This problem will be greater than SAC's present headache of trying to keep its present crews in uniform.

There will be more competition from industry for these missile experts.

SAC5s second vital program currently being pushed is the world-wide dispersal of its bases. This is being done on the assumption that the first strike by an enemy will be at SAC's planes and bases. It also assumes that an enemy will not strike unless he believes he can wipe out America's deterrent force with that initial blow.

IF THE ENEMY isn't positive that he can do this, he knows that at best he will be horribly wounded by what's left of the U.S. retaliatory or deterrent force. So he isn't likely to attack in the first place.

This concept also assumes that one enemy bomb can wipe out one U.S. base and all its planes. If a full wing is located on one base it could be wiped out, theoretically, by one bomb. But if a wing has three squadrons dispersed on three separate bases it becomes three times as difficult for the enemy to wipe out a full wing. In other words, by putting the same number of planes on more bases the value of each plane is greatly enhanced.

Actually, if the number of SAC bases is doubled, it becomes more than twice as difficult for the enemy to wipe out SAC's retaliatory ability.

This same theory applies to the day when intercontinental missiles are the opposing weapons. But the need for the original enemy striking force goes up even faster as the retaliatory missile force is dispersed, because missiles are not as accurate as planes.

IN OTHER words an enemy would have to plan on shooting four missiles to wipe out one base, perhaps. So if the number of bases which will be targets is doubled, the number of missiles an enemy must have to be sure of wiping them out would be quadrupled.

The actual figures on the new bases SAC is dispersing to is a secret, of course.

A final major effort of SAC at this time is the incorporation of new jet KC-135 tankers into its refueling system. The first of these huge flying gas tanks are just being delivered to SAC and crews are being checked out in them.

Glancing Sideways

MEXICO, D. F.—When slogging through jungles and dancing my way through what turned out to be 51 successive earthquakes (50 of them minor) become wearying, I always like to hunker down in the nearest movie house and catch up on American pictures. And after seeing six of the recent ones, I'd like to ask a question: whatever happened to the American door manufacturing industry?

THESE SIX pictures had to do with a variety of plots, such as a divorced man fending off ladies, or a rugged mining engineer type making his fortune and retiring only to find out that luxury tastes like ashes, or a rich girl slumming in show business only to find out that in spite of her money she has talents as an actress. That kind of thing.

In each of these there were a variety of sets, indoor, and in these sets there were practically no doors. You went into living rooms with glass walls and no doors, or bedrooms with white brick walls inset with cast brass figurines and no doors, or home libraries with fine, uncut books and no doors.

THE "NO DOOR" trend started about four years ago when the boys who design the sets for Hollywood discovered variations on the louvre door.

The first ones had the lower half of solid wood and the upper half of louvres. Then some daring fellow did sets with all the doors in louvres from top to bottom, after which a New Orleans-loving son of a gun did doors like movable blinds. These designers are sensitive folk and they won't take a trend lying down.

The next fellow in line did a set of doors which were movable blinds only half-way up and you could look right through and into a room because there was nothing in the upper half.

NATURALLY, after that, it was no trick at all to eliminate doors altogether and that's what Hollywood is trying to do now. They designed as many door variations as they could and then decided to throw in the towel and have no doors at all. It works fine in movie sets. People only have to act in them. But I can't imagine a greater horror than a house without interior doors.

What is an angry man going to do when the moment of the last word comes? He feels around and there is no door to slam with majestic fury. And as cozy as some family arrangements may be, the fact is that a door is a mighty handy article to have from time to time.

Doors are fine things with which to shut out children, behind which to have a good cry and I even think some people like to dress behind closed doors. Not enough to make a painful fetish of it, but at times it is comforting.

A house without any doors except the two for the front and back entrances would be something like living in the Yankee Stadium on double-header day.

WHAT ABOUT the brush salesman? He comes to the front door, rings the bell and Ma says, "Lord, I'm so busy I haven't time to talk to him today, you tell him something," and Pa manfully goes to the front door and says, "I don't know much about the brush situation in this house and until my wife gets back I wouldn't want to order anything."

"Gets back?" cries the salesman. "Why I can see her back there in the third bedroom as large as life."

I KNOW A MAN who has glass doors inside his house except for the two sleeping rooms. But I don't know any man who has no doors except the outside doors. Not one.

I have seen Miss Joan Crawford, Miss Winters and a slew of other ladies and gents of the cinema pretending to live in doorless houses and maybe if I were paid $6,000 a week I'd take a chance, too. For $6,000 a week I'd sleep on the courthouse lawn.

Until someone with that kind of money to pay me for exhibitionism and folderol comes along, I think I'll go right on in my old-fashioned, tedious house with doors in it. Why, the upstairs hall alone had six in it until we walled one off—and it still has five. They're very useful, too.

It Can Pay To Get Canned

WASHINGTON—In the topsy-turvy world of certain labor unions, where nothing is what it seems, the boss does best for himself when he manages to get fired.

Consider Johnny Dio, the blue-jowled hoodlum. He got $16,000 in cash for resigning as head of the United Auto Workers AFL locals in New York. The head man in Chicago, long since investigated for a multi-million dollar insurance hocus-pocus, allegedly received $300,000 for getting the gate gracefully.

And then there is Tony Doria. Now there's a fellow who knows how to turn a buck, or the wheel of a Cadillac, the easy way.

TONY USED to be secretary-treasurer of the international union now known as the Allied Industrial Workers. Tony was the baby who brought gangster Dio into labor's affairs.

So last year Tony arranged for sale of the union's handsome headquarters in Milwaukee, so the management could move to the palm-lined avenues of Beverly Hills, Calif. Before doing this, Tony resigned as an officer of the Badger Realty Company, of Wisconsin.

A few days later his ex-partner, one Spyros Kalas, bought the Milwaukee edifice for $80,000. He borrowed $54,000 to do this. He kept $4,000 for himself and paid the union $50,000. Then he prevailed upon this same union to take back a $30,000 second mortgage on what used to be its own building.

"AND AS FAR as I know the union still hasn't got back its $30,000," said Morris Weintraub, a Newport, Ky., lawyer who used to be a member of the union's executive committee.

"Looks to me like somebody lost money here," suggested Senator John McClellan, heading the inquiry into labor rackets.

"Call Doria in here and he'll try to prove that the union profited," said Weintroub. "It does not make sense mathematically, but that's what he says."

Let's pull down the curtain here a moment to denote the passing of about six months and now it's February, 1957, and the union chieftains, including president Earl Heaton, figure the time has come to dump Doria because he's brought on some bad publicity

"THE ETHICAL Practices Committee of the AFL-CIO objected to Doria," testified the gray-haired Heaton, who gave up the presidency, himself, only a couple of weeks ago.

He said he told Doria he had to quit. Doria said that would cost $50,000. The management figured that was a small charge for getting loose from him. Heaton and his associates were so pleased that they threw in the Cadillac the union had furnished its secretary-treasurer. Everybody went back to Milwaukee.

"And Doria changed his mind," said ex-president Heaton. "There was a hassle. Hell to pay. He threatened to sue the union for $1,000,000 for damaging his character.

"So we made another deal. We offered him $60,000 and still let him keep the Cadillac and this time he did quit. Only he hasn't got all the money yet."

IT DEVELOPED that the union paid its secretary-treasurer $25,000 in cash and gave him two promissory notes totaling $55,000. Perfectly good, legal notes, too. Tony now is suing to collect. He probably will get every cent. This proves that virtue is not, either, its own reward.

Crisis

MICHIGAN needs 10,000 additional classrooms immediately in order to relieve over-crowding and to eliminate multiple sessions in the state's public schools, in which there will be an anticipated addition of 70,000 children this fall.

Lyn M. Bartlett, state supervisor of public institutions in Michigan, made a statement asserting the above in Lansing.

Although the people of Michigan have spent 675 million dollars for more classrooms in the last six years, more are needed.

In the years to come, enrollment will keep rising. Unless many fresh millions — at least 400 millions, in fact — are spent, the deficit in classrooms will continue.

Here is a situation not peculiar to Michigan. It predicts the future in the education of our children unless action is taken on the local, state and national levels.

America, the richest country in the world, is in danger of lagging in education to the disadvantage of its own future and that of its children. Warnings should be heeded in time, or we will suffer in years to come.

An investment in adequate schools for our children is an investment in their future and, hence, in the future of America.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—Most swimmers who encounter a shark merely worry how to escape him. A few brave souls, however, have a wild desire to ride him bareback.

In both cases John Tassos, a New York advertising executive and authority on skin diving, has the answer.

He is the author of "The Underwater World," a guide for sportsmen who want to spear fish, explore wrecks or merely pick up shells from the floor of the sea.

How can a swimmer escape if he encounters a shark or barracuda near shore?

"THE CHANCES are, if you meet one of these big fish near shore, he is well fed and merely curious at seeing you," said Tassos.

"The main thing to do is to avoid irritating him. How do you keep him calm? By staying calm yourself. The simplest thing to do is keep your eyes on him, and swim toward shore, slowly and easily.

"Remember he is in his home and you are the stranger and intruder in his house.

"Above all, don't panic. If you thresh the water violently trying to get away, you may excite him and cause him to attack.

"If a barracuda insists on coming too close, you can turn and swim toward him and he'll go away—999,999 times out of a million.

"If a shark comes too close, put your head under water and yell as loud as you can, 'Go away, you bum! Get lost!' he can't hear you, but he can feel the vibrations.

"If he still comes on, hit him on the nose, which is very sensitive because his brain is right behind it. Usually, he'll leave. If he comes back, hit him on the nose again.

"But don't panic and start floundering toward shore. The shark and barracuda are among the swiftest fish in the sea. You can't outswim them—you have to outthink them."

TASSOS HAS TWO other tips for the the average swimmer.

"Stay close to shore. The fish in deep water are hungrier and more likely to attack. Don't venture into deep water unless you carry a spear and have one or more other spearmen with you for mutual protection.

"If you gash yourself accidentally under water, get out immediately. Blood frenzies the big fish."

Tassos regards the shark as far more dangerous than the barracuda.

"Lifeguards on the Florida beaches every day see inquisitive barracuda hovering a few yards from swimmers," he said, "but I know of no authenticated case where a barracuda actually attacked a bather in those areas.

"But any shark, even a two-foot one, may attack if angered. You can't grab even a baby one by the tail."

However, it is possible to ride a shark bareback and come home alive. Tassos is one of a number of veteran skin divers who enjoy this hobby, now limitedly popular in the Bahamas.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — My queen sometimes adopts a speaking style which is a pain in the neck, or elsewhere, but if I take issue with it, I do not look for the whole country to take sides in the spat, nor for some old geezer I never laid eyes on before to limp up and tag me in the mush.

Also, I do not favor popping back at every old showoff who wants to make himself look like Sir Launcelot, even though the dodderer only summoned courage to do it because he was confident the young buck would not retaliate.

If every ancient one who yearns to appear as a knight errant were to receive his dues, the community would be littered with battered old butt-ins.

I can say these things because I am more nearly the age of the 64-year-old blatherskite, Philip Kinghorn Burbidge, than the 33-year-old Lord Altrincham who stirred up the most asinine dispute in years by writing that the speaking style of Queen Elizabeth is a pain in the neck.

OF COURSE it's a pain in the neck. Anyone who has ever heard her would testify to that, if honest. I have listened to her in London, and other parts of the British Empire.

In a number of reports on the affair, the interesting theory was advanced that there should be no criticism of Her Majesty "because the Americans don't like it." Most of the British correspondents in Washington, who must number into the tens of thousands, judging by the bedlam of limey voices I hear at the National Press Club bar, cabled back that the United States was up in arms about the "insult to Her Majesty."

I don't know where these English journalists conducted their polls, unless it was in the military aides' retiring chamber at the British Embassy, because I have yet to talk to anyone in Washington who is up in arms about it. As a matter of fact I haven't met anyone who is down in arms—or sideways, or backwards.

About the only comment I have heard has been from circulation-minded members of my craft who theorize that the key to the whole business lies in an obscure line that appeared in the initial report, namely that Lord Altrincham is publisher of a "small-circulation" magazine. Publishers of small circulation magazines are tempted to try anything to make them bigger.

We, in the trade, feel that Altrincham should properly be shortened to "ham."

A CONSTITUENT, Edmund West, of 1220 17th ave., San Francisco, writes to Rep. John F. Shelley, of Calif.: "Anything you can do to increase the pay of government white collar workers will be appreciated by me. I promise not to use the raise in any way that the President will consider inflationary."

Rep. Shelley replies: "Although you, as a consumer, would find it difficult to spend any possible raise in a way the President would not consider inflationary, here are some suggestions on how you might spend it, if you don't want to throw it away on food, clothing and shelter for your family:

Invest it in near all-time high interest rate government bonds to provide money for the President's huge spending program; save it for a year and then spend it. By that time, if nothing is done to stop the trend, it won't buy very much anyway and will have a negligible effect on the country's economy."

Rep. Shelley, I hear, is not a Republican.

School Of Tomorrow Being Born Today

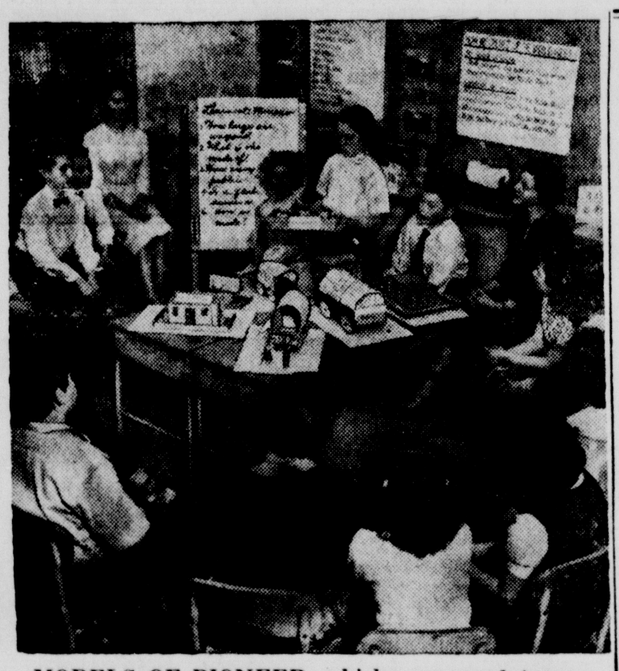

Nearsighted children, more than any other group, like best to read because their world is a limited one.

Only 15 percent of the land in Arizona is privately owned. The remainder belongs to the government, state and federal.

Tristan de Cunha is a small group of volcanic islands in the South Atlantic, having a population of 165.

YOUNG MAP-MAKERS work on their part of class project on settlement of the Middle West, in a fifth grade "unit development" class. Pupils share in planning unit projects on which all work.

MODELS OF PIONEER vehicles are used to explain to class by member of group which made them after visiting museum. Class divided itself into committees to work on various parts of project.

The Jet Age in education is moving in faster than the speed at which the automobile displaced the horse and buggy. Most educators expect changes to be greater in the next generation than ever before.

The school of the future is being born through technological changes and with a wide window on the world. It is beginning to take shape now in a few places in new architectural designs, new subjects being taught, experiments in ways of teaching.

Exactly what will be taught in tomorrow's schools, school leaders will not predict. It will be what the American people let the educators know they want, they say. They maintain that everything in the curriculum today—even such things as auto driving—is there because large, or energetic groups demanded it.

Whatever the subjects, some of the ways in which they will be taught can be foreseen. Television looms large in any discussion. Some educators like it, some deplore it, but almost all agree it's here to stay, and to grow. Architects are beginning to design school buildings with TV viewing rooms, and even with simple projection "studios."

Movies are getting increased attention also for school use. Encyclopedia Britannica Films, Wilmette, Ill., with funds from the Ford Foundation, has filmed a cmoplete year-long course in high school physics.

Tied in with TV, films, tape recordings and other methods of wholesale teaching is the idea of the "master teacher." Still experimental, this plan calls for a teacher especially competent in one subject — say in English — to lecture to large groups of students by TV or in a hall.

Classroom teachers carry on the lesson after the master teacher finishes. This method is being suggested even for the lower grades.

It might call for a few more teachers — instead of relieving the teacher stortage. But it is seen as increasing the scope of the limited supply of teachers with specific kinds of training.

An experiment aimed more directly at the teacher shortage is the "teacher aide" plan in elementary schools. The aides are not trained teachers, but women who are good at handling children. They take over such routine chores as collecting milk money and helping the kids put on their overshoes.

The aides are fine as an emergency measure, educators seem to feel, but the long-run aim should be for plenty of teachers.

Backers of the teacher aide plan see as one advantage the ability of assisted teachers to handle larger classes, perhaps as large as 50 children.

An obstacle here is that few schools now up or in the building stage have large enough rooms.

The school of the future may have. The rooms may be flexible, to meet varying needs.

Fed fields of architecture are undergoing such radical changes as school design. And few are subject to as much debate. Such designs as schools with glass walls have their supporters and their critics, who argue over light and temperature controls.

But on one item all the architects agree: The school of the future must be a bright, cheerful place where children can be happy. Happy children, they feel, learn better.

You Too Can Help Schools

What can you do to improve the schools?

That's a question which has a different answer in every community. But here are some general suggestions from the National Citizens Council for Better Schools:

Help organize a local citizens' school committee.

Ask your board of education what jobs they have for citizens.

Join school improvement groups such as the PTA, citizens' groups, and education committees of clubs.

Find the facts before you find fault with the schools.

Plan with neighbors to hold a community conference on school problems.

Survey the school situation in town to forecast conditions and needs for the years ahead.

The council is the outgrowth of an organization started in 1949 to get action on school problems. It estimates there are more than 12,000 citizens' school improvement committees the country over, and state citizens' committees in 36 states.

Barnard Jr., Mrs. William Walsh, Mrs. Wilton Sykes, Mrs. Norman Barger, Mrs. Gorman Getty, Mrs. Murray Allen, Mrs. Howard Buchanan and Mrs. Walter Neff.

BRT Auxiliary Plans Dinner

At the annual outing of Pride of 628 Lodge 47, Ladies Auxiliary to the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, at the Celanese pool, a Dutch treat dinner was planned to mark the first anniversary of the auxiliary. It will be held September 4 at Moon's Dining Room. It will be followed by a business session at the Ridgeley fire hall.

Following the picnic supper, ball games featured the recreation.

Members attending were Mrs. Ann Montgomery, Mrs. Ann Currence Mrs. Ruth Phillips, Mrs. Elma Durr, Mrs. Martha Pittman, Mrs. Verna Benson, Mrs. Ruth Barnwalt, Mrs. Margaret Cowan, Mrs. Sophia Simmons, Mrs. Virginia McNamara and Mrs. Mona Beaver.

Guests were Edgar Durr and son, John Pittman and children, Bernard McNamara, John Phillips, Thomas Montgomery and son, Thomas, Jr.; Charles Dunlap and Mrs. Estella Garlitz.

Dinner-Dance To Honor Nurse Graduates

Dr. Blane M. Schindler will speak at the annual dinner and dance in honor of Sacred Heart Hospital graduating class, August 22, with the hospital Alumni Association host. Dr. Leo H. Ley will be master of ceremonies. The invocation will be given by Miss Mary Margaret King, secretary. Dancing will start at 9 p. m. with music by the Aristocrats.

Graduation exercises will be held August 25 in St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

All reservations are to be made by August 20, through Mrs. Elizabeth Lovett, Miss Mary Margaret King or Miss Catherine Stakem.

Members of the social committee are Miss Stakem, Miss Mary Louise Coyle, Miss Lois O'Donnell, Miss Frances Martirano and Mrs. Beverly Turner.

Mary Louise Dressman Honored By Leone Saeli

Miss Mary Louise Dressman was honored last evening with a linen shower and pre-nuptial party by Miss Leone Saeli, at the latter's home, Windsor Road, The Dingle.

The bridal motif was carried out in the table centerpiece which was a replica of a bridal scene, with a doll bride, in her bridal gown, and doll attendants dressed in pastel shades. Pastel summer flowers and pink candles were used throughout the house.

The shower gifts were found in a treasure hunt, with cards with original verses giving the clues.

Guests were Miss Joan Dressman, Miss Margaret Blake, Miss Kathy Joyce, Miss Marlene Morris, Mrs. Casper Taylor Jr., Mrs. Charles Dressman, Mrs. Henry Dressman, Mrs. Edward F. Joyce, Mrs. Regina Wilson, Cleveland, Ohio, and Mrs. Matthew Morris.

Miss Dressman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Dressman, LaVale, will become the bride of Robert Paul Lally, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Lally, of Louisville, Ky., Saturday.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 10 a. m. in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church at a nuptial high mass, with Rev. Marius Elsener, OFM Cap., officiating and being celebrant of the mass.

The bride's attendants will be her sister, Miss Joan Dressman, as maid of honor and Miss Saeli and Miss Elizabeth Lally, Louisville, sister of the prospective bridegroom, as bridesmaids.

Mr. and Mrs. Dressman will entertain with a reception immediately after the church ceremony in SS. Peter and Paul hall.

History Of DeWitt Clan Traced To 1657

Officers were elected and a report on the DeWitt geneaology was given at the 30th reunion of the family held at Sang Run, Garrett County, Sunday.

Stephen DeWitt of Sang Run, was elected president; Mrs. Kermit Glodfelty, Accident, secretary, and William Burdette, Mountain Lake Park, treasurer.

Tracing the family ancestry, Mrs. William H. DeWitt, historian, told of the ancestor, Tjerck DeWitt coming to America in 1657 from Holland. He settled first in Albany, then in 1661 moved to Kingston, N. Y. His grandson, Peter, the elder son of Ezekial DeWitt, was born in 1762 and settled in Roaring Creek section about 1775. The first DeWitt settled in Allegany County at Sang Run in 1795.

A prize for the oldest person present was awarded to John DeWitt of Crellin, who is 80. He and his wife also won the prize for being the oldest married couple present.

It was decided to have the meeting next year on the second Sunday in August at Sang Run, as that was where the ancestor first settled in Allegany county. Paul DeWitt, Oakland, presided.

Character Building Is Joint Operation

Educators Note Failure Resulting From Home Life

By HERMAN R. ALLEN

VANDALISM . . . rock 'n' roll riots . . . ducktails and blue jeans . . . broken homes and working mothers . . . What responsibility do schools have for such things?

For years the American Assn. of School Administrators (AASA) at its annual convention passed an almost routine resolution acknowledging the responsibility of the public schools to impart moral and spiritual values to students.

This year, alarmed at what appeared to it to be a threatening trend, the AASA took off the gloves. As usual, it called on schools to do a job of moral guidance. But this time it told why it thought they must take on the job.

"Many homes," it said, "find it increasingly difficult to help children establish ideals that enable them to adjust to ethical standards of a high order."

The resolution noted the technological and social changes in American life, that "national safety and security are not certainties." Under these conditions of underlying unrest, it said, "closely knit family ties are difficult to maintain . . .

"Special efforts should be exerted by the schools of the country to provide for all children and youth those moral and spiritual experiences and concepts essential to ethical character, emotional balance, self-discipline, and good American citizenship."

Nothing New

"The children now love luxury . . . They contradict their parents . . . cross their legs and tyrannize over their teachers."

Socrates, 400 B.C.

The AASA, representing more than 10,000 city and county school superintendents, is not alone in its view. Judges, criminologists and sociologists feel the same way.

"In principle," says Juvenile Court Judge Edith H. Cockrill of Washington, "I will be among the first to condemn any school of thought which would shift primary responsibility for basic child training to the schools. This unquestionably belongs to the parents. Yet, realistically, I know that many parents are failing . . . the community must bridge the gap.

What can the schools do?

WHO HAS THE ANSWER? . . . While youngsters like these eagerly answer teacher's question, grown-ups seek answers to the problems of their character formation. The early years are seen as crucial.

"After all," says high school principal Howard F. Horner of suburban Portland, Ore., "we have a youngster only six hours a day. His parents and his buddies have him the rest of the time."

Dr. Edgar S. Kiracofe, head of the department of education at Juniata College, Huntingdon, Pa., wrote in a recent article:

"The school is a powerful teaching force, but it is not the home, the church, the social agency and the police department. The school cooperates with these agencies, but its main job is education. Teachers are able and resourceful people, but they are not magicians and miracle workers. There is a limit to the number of things they can do . . ."

"The place to cure crime is the high chair, not the electric chair," says L. Clark Schilder, a veteran federal reformatory warden. ". . . An ounce of character formation in early life is worth a ton of reformation later."

Most educators hasten to say they think the American home by and large is doing a good job.

R. B. Norman, veteran principal of Amarillo, Tex., High School, will tell you that youth today is "far more idealistic and religious than it has ever been."

Nevertheless, educators are seriously disturbed.

An increase in adult drinking is seen by many educators as a problem which is reflected in children in today's home. Other factors:

The automobile: "There seems to be a direct connection between delinquency and the availability of transportation," says Horner . . . "They (young people) are in position to move over to a place where they might break into a building, or at least they're driving too fast."

"So everlasting much leisure and free time," as Norman puts it. "They come home only when they run out of gas. That is, if they don't drain some gas out of another car."

More moving of families from city to city: "There's no longer any such thing as an isolated community," says High School Principal Orren T. Freeman of Wichita Falls, Tex. "Ducktails, the Elvis Presley craze, vandalism spread as kids move to new homes."

To Meet Special Needs Junior Collges Boosted

The rapidly spreading junior college may come to your rescue by the time your ninth-grader graduates from high school.

In 1954 there were about 500 of these two-year institutions in the country. Today there are nearly 600, enrolling some 700,000 of the approximately three million college level students.

Only a little over half are public schools. But they account for 90 per cent of the junior college enrollment.

Is there anything "second rate" about junior colleges? No reason there should be. A recent survey by the National Education Assn. (NEA) indicated that in some areas junior college teachers are paid somewhat better than regular college teachers.

"There would be no inconsistency with our educational ideals," former Harvard president James B. Conant said last year, "if local two-year colleges were to enroll as many as half the boys and girls who wished to engage in formal studies beyond high school."

The Council for Financial Aid To Education, suggesting to business men support of junior colleges, said last spring:

"Because of their comparatively simple educational programs, their unpretentious emphasis on teaching, their utilitarian plants and their relatively small overhead, the two-year colleges, like the small colleges generally, often are able to make the educational dollar count for more."

One of the most vigorous backers of the junior college movement is Sen. Clifford P. Case (R-NJ). He has proposed a nationwide junior college building program, to be paid for one-third by the federal government and two-thirds by the states. He estimates his plan would benefit between 300,000 and 600,000 boys and girls in the next five years.

"We are pricing our youth out of college," Case says. "The days are gone when one could say to an ambitious young man, "If you want to go to college, where there's a will there's a way.' Many who got through college in the days when you and I worked our way through can no longer do so."

The big financial advantage of junior college is that the student usually can live at home.

What do junior colleges offer? Two kinds of courses, generally:

1. The "terminal" course, complete in itself, often vocational although it may be the liberal arts type.

2. The "transfer" course, designed to give the first two years of a college education which will be continued at a regular four-year college or university.

The second type in many cases performs a "weed-out" task that helps relieve the load on the four-year institutions.

Three Types Of 'School' Telecasts

Three kinds of educational television are beamed into schoolrooms or living rooms:

1. Closed circuit, which travels on cables, "piping" live or filmed programs to classrooms with a building, or as planned in Hagerstown, to a whole school system.

2. Open-circuit non-commercial, licensed for educational purposes, as in the pioneer Pittsburgh station.

3. Open-circuit commercial, broadcast by regular commercial stations. This too may be beamed to classrooms or public.

Thirty-one non-commercial educational television stations are on the air now, or are expected to be by the end of the year.

Links With Past Needed In Education

In the rush toward the future, the good things of the past must not be left behind, some educators are warning.

Supt. John H. Fischer of Baltimore says: "Rapidity of change can have an almost intoxicating effect, and there have been times when some of our schools have paid more attention to those things that change than they have to those that stand . . .

"When education prepares young people to deal well with change it gives them more than practice in courageously approaching new conditions. It gives them also a firm footing in the accumulated learning of the past . . . We need to see that as our children invade the future their line of communication with the past remains secure."

Similar thoughts have been expressed with growing frequency by other educational, industrial and government leaders.

Alaska has 17 times as many airplanes per capita as the average of the United States. There are 150 persons per airplane in Alaska compared with the national average of 2,601.

Parents See Teachers

More and more parents, teachers, and schools are getting together, not to deal with a crisis, but for a friendly and systematic exchange of information, reports David C. Guhl, president of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Assn.

The parent-teacher conference is the prime method of such cooperation, Guhl said. Some schools schedule a week each marking period for conferences after school. Or the teacher may have a morning "drop-in time." Some schools dismiss classes for a day earmarked for conferences.

Not enough parents are yet taking advantage of these opportunities, Guhl said. A recent survey showed that only five per cent of the parents in one locality visited their child's classroom or saw his teacher during the past year.

Two Teachers Appointed To Beall Faculty

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of public schools, announced that two new teachers have been named to the faculty of Beall High School in Frostburg.

Miss Anna Drucilla Schriner, of 90 Mount Pleasant Street, Frostburg, will teach English at the high school this year.

MISS ANNA SCHRINER

She will replace Mrs. Donald Workman who taught at Beall last year. Miss Schriner was graduated from Beall High School in 1944 and in 1950 graduated from Frostburg State Teachers College.

MRS. MARY K. WILSON

She did graduate work at George Washington University in Washington, D. C. from 1951 to 1952. For three and a half years she taught at Oxon Hill High School and taught four years at Gwynn Park High School in Brandywine.

Mrs. Mary Kay Wilson, of 411 Maryland Avenue, Westernport, has been named vocal music teacher at Beall and will replace Samuel D. Miller, who resigned to accept a position in a Michigan school.

She was graduated from Bruce High School in 1953 and four years later from Frostburg State Teachers College. Mrs. Wilson has had 14 years training on the piano and some six years on the organ.

Meeting Set On Potomac

A conference on Potomac River pollution will be held August 22 and 23 at Charlottesville, Va., by the Public Health Service.

The conference is scheduled to begin at 9 a. m., EST, at the Regional office of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, 700 East Jefferson Street. Murray Stein, of the Water Pollution Control Program of the Public Health Service, will be chairman of the conference.

Officials of Maryland, Virginia, and the District of Columbia, as well as the Interstate Commission on the Potomac, have been invited to the conference. Such conferences are authorized by the new Federal Water Pollution Control law.

The purpose of the conference is to bring water pollution control officials of Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia and the Interstate Commission on the Potomac together to lay a basis for future action by all parties concerned and to give the localities an opportunity to take remedial steps.

GOP Committee Selects Thomas N. Berry And Melvin Sloan For Positions

The Allegany County Republican Committee last night selected Thomas N. Berry, local attorney, and Melvin Sloan, trial magistrate at Lonaconing, to fill vacancies in the House of Delegates and on the GOP committee.

Chairman James S. Getty announced the results of the voting at the meeting called to fill the vacancies created by the recent death of George F. S. Jeffrey, of Lonaconing, a member of both the county delegation and committee.

Getty said nine candidates sought appointment to the county delegation while three persons sought the vacant post on the GOP Committee.

All six members of the committee were present. Getty said, and the unanimous selection of the two men came on the second ballot by the committee.

Berry, who is a native of Cumberland, is a graduate of Allegany High School, Mercersburg Academy, Washington and Lee University and the University of Maryland Law School. He also was a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation for a number of years before returning to Cumberland in 1949 to practice law. He is associated with the Walter C. Capper and William S. Jenkins firm.

Sloan is a trustee of the Lonaconing Republican Club, and is employed at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

The recommendation of the appointments will be sent to Maryland's governor and both positions will be filed until the election in 1958.

The committee last night also regretted the recent death of Mr. Jeffrey and praised his faithful and capable service as a member of the GOP committee and a member of the House of Delegates.

Now Is Time To Plan For College

Higher Costs, Standards Must Be Considered Today

MIKE'S ONLY in eighth grade? Plenty of time to think about college?

Don't be too sure. Colleges are getting choosier—and more expensive. To make sure Mike gets in when the time comes, both you and he are going to have to get busy NOW.

Two words tell the story. For you the word is: Save. For Mike: Study.

Unless your income has enough slack for you to shell out about $2,000 a year to send Mike to a private college, or about $1,500 for a tax-supported one, you're not going to make it without a college fund in the bank.

Those are the average total costs — tuition, fees, living expenses — as estimated last spring by the U. S. Office of Education. Costs were found to be just about twice as much now as in 1939-40.

There's considerable variation, of course. Mike could get by on $974 at a teachers' college in the South. But it would take $2,099 for a year at one of the big universities of the Northeast.

For most of us, it all boils down to saving now or borrowing when the time comes — probably both.

Massachusetts recently set up an "insured loan" plan under which state resident students can borrow up to $500 per year at interest just ½ of one per cent higher than the "prime" rate lieving students' dads of a September and January kick in the wallet. Dad pays Tuition Plan so much a month (at four per cent interest).

Scholarships? Sure, there are many — and some go unclaimed year after year. Few begin to pay full cost of a college education, but some will go a long way.

Have Mike ask his principal about the new National Merit Scholarships. They pay as much as $2,100 for students from neediest families (but as little as $100 recognition grant to students from wealthy families).

At least 200 four-year National Merit Scholarships are awarded each year. The NMS students may go to any college that will accept him. Many scholarships are good at only one or a few schools.

There are several books listing scholarship opportunities. A new one, "You Can Win A Scholarship," by Brownstein, Weiner and Kaplan (Barron's Educational Series, Inc.), lists 150,000 scholarship opportunities, tells how to apply for them, and supplies review and drill questions based on past scholarship examinations.

Most scholarship funds specify need and good grades to qualify. S. Norman Feingold, who made a survey of scholarships for B'nai B'rith, Jewish service organization, found that many funds rule out families with incomes over $8,000 a year.

As for grades:

"Some funds specify that good grades mean a straight A average," Feingold said. "For other funds A's and B's are more than sufficient."

But: "We can say, with few exceptions, C students are not eligible for scholarship help."

Mike's just an average kid, probably won't capture a scholarship.

Even if he does, unless it's for a specific college he'll still have to be accepted by a school.

And colleges are getting harder to get into. By the time Mike's ready — which will be about the time the wartime baby boom hits — the gates will be even higher. A survey by the Assn. of American Colleges indicates that colleges' expansion plans will provide at best " a very slender safety margin."

So here is where Mike's part comes in: Study, starting right now.

"All young people who want to go to college," says Dean Arthur Howe of Yale, "should begin thinking along colleges lines as early as the seventh or eighth grade and then pick their high school courses according to what will be expected of them three or four years later."

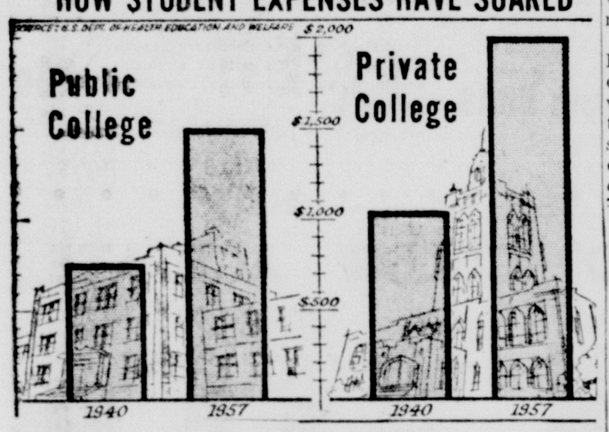

"Given two equally good scholastic records," says a Cornell University official, "the student with the well balanced extras may get the call."

The story is the same at Yale. Howe reported last fall that the entering freshman class not only was the best on record scholastically but that it was heavily sprinkled with former high school editors, debaters, athletes, student council officials.

HER HIGH SCHOOL counselor helps a future co-ed decide on a college. Crowded conditions make early application necessary.

HOW STUDENT EXPENSES HAVE SOARED

paid in Boston by the best credit risks. A special corporation protects banks against 80 per cent of possible loss. A student may take up to 3½ years after graduation to pay off.

Legislatures and citizens' groups of several other states are looking into the plan. Many colleges already have loan funds.

Or, you may be able to pay as Mike goes. Tuition Plan Inc. (347 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y.) has arranged with some 125 colleges to pay them a lump sum, re-

Both Going Strong

PARIS, Ont., (AP)—Back in 1908 Harry O'Neail bought a binder for $125 to cut grain. He's 86 now and the old-style binder is 49 years. Both O'Neail and the binder are still going strong.

TV Teaching Being Tried In Maryland

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP) — A bold experiment is under way here to find out how educational television can be put to effective use throughout one entire school system—elementary, junior and high schools.

Hundreds of educators from the United States and some 30 other countries have visited here to observe the project launched by the Washington County board of education.

Since September, 1956, students at two Hagerstown high schools have been getting some lessons via a closed-circuit network. In December, the elementary grades in six schools were added, making a total of 6,000 students on the network.

By fall, another 6,200 students in 15 schools will be included. By 1958, the sponsors hope to have the entire 48 county schools, with some 18,000 pupils capable of carrying six programs at one time.

Students average only one TV class session a day, with half reserved for discussion or work.

Last June the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Advancement fo Education offered financial backing.

The program will cost perhaps $100,000 in the first year. Cost of the five-year program is expected to approach one million dollars.

Two R's Neglected?

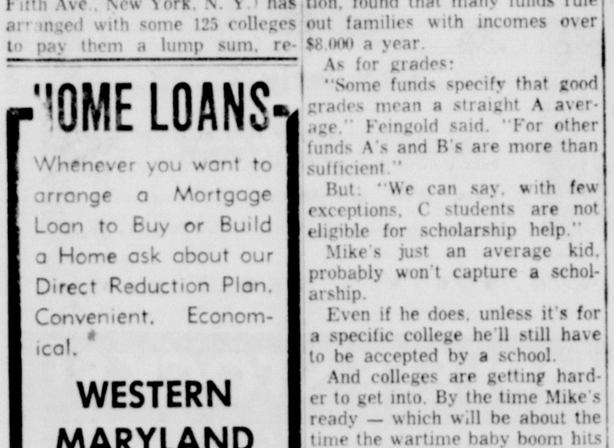

NEW YORK—Dean William C. Warren of Columbia University Law School has recommended remedial reading and writing work for applicants to the school. He says most students entering law school these days can neither read nor write well enough to become good lawyers.

Brains Race Spurs Educators

International Threat Exists To Economy

By HERMAN R. ALLEN

Shortage of scientists and engineers? asked Eli Ginsberg, director of staff studies of the National Manpower Council. Sure, he said, but there's a shortage, too, of "good baseball players . . . top-flight business executives . . . competent philosophers . . . In a world of limited resources we are always short."

That America faces a challenge in today's international brains race cannot be questioned. Or that success in meeting that challenge depends largely on schools and colleges, questioned. Or that success in meeting that challenge depends largely on schools and colleges.

Dispute enters with the questions: How severe is the challenge? Are the schools fulfilling their part in meeting it?

On both questions you can get all kinds of answers. But among thinking educators and national planners there is agreement on two points:

1. It would be foolish to let the technological threat from behind the Iron Curtain panic us into all-out production of nothing but scientists and engineers.

2. It would be insane to ignore the threat.

Even the chairman of President Eisenhower's Committee for the Development of Scientists and Engineers cautions against over-emphasis on technical training.

"It is not the function of this committee," says Howard R. Bevis, former president of Ohio State University, "to upset the balance of American education and turn everybody into a hairy engineer. The nation would go morally bankrupt if we did. We need economists, historians — poets, for that matter — too."

Professional and industrial societies, some of which tended to go overboard when Russian technological advances began to hit the headlines, now counsel against neglect of other areas of education.

EARLY INTEREST in physics is shown by Louisville fourth graders, demonstrating static and electric current on simple gadget.

Nevertheless, there remains fear that America may be permanently — and disastrously — left behind.

Production of engineers, after a heavy decline in the first five years of the 1950s, is beginning to increase sharply. College enrollments in that field are growing faster than the average for all courses. Chemistry registrations are rising at a lesser rate.

In the high schools, new figures by the U. S. Office of Education indicate that science and mathematics enrollments are far ahead of what had been thought.

But how good is the instruction?

Some veteran high school science teachers say their courses have been "watered down" because students lack training in mathematics. A survey of Pennsylvania high school students showed "too much mathematics" as the most frequent reason for not enrolling in physics.

The notion, however, that all high school students look on scientists as either "evil" or hopelessly "long hair" seems to be just a notion.

Studies of college scholarship winners, the nation's best students, show that more than half plan scientific or technical careers.

Most authorities agree that a key factor in the shortage of scientists and engineers is the lack of competent teachers in both colleges and lower level schools. Many colleges have had vacancies in their science and math departments for years. The reason is simple: Industry pays better.

One major effort to do something about the teacher problem is the Science Teaching Improvement Project (STIP) of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science. Among other things, STIP is working on college science and math departments to widen their teacher-training activities, recruiting able students interested in teaching, working to get teacher salaries improved.

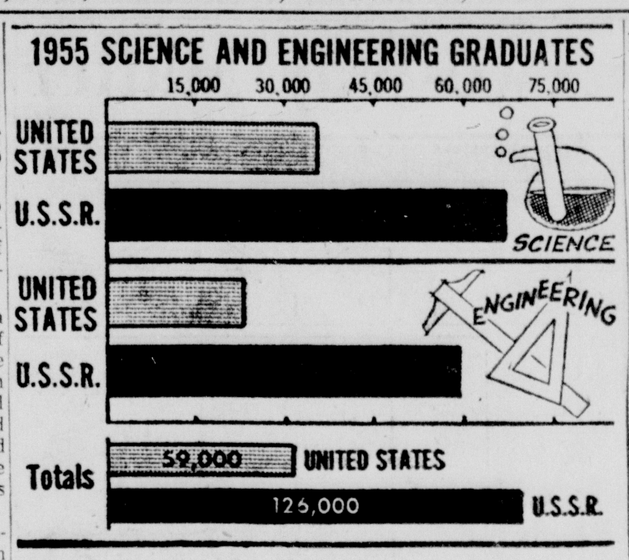

The National Science Foundation and other government agencies sponsor summer courses for science teachers to help keep them up to date.

Individual schools are at work. Loomis Preparatory School in Connecticut this year began a program for small groups of gifted children who were given an opportunity to work on research projects.

The Bay City, Mich., schools, noting that dislike for science and math often pops up in high school, has begun exposing students to these subjects at the elementary level.

The President's development (Bevis) committee, concerned at the lack of efficient use of the scientists and engineers we do have, proposes wider use of subprofessional technicians, who have the equivalent of a two-year education in a technical institute at the junior college level.

Technicians, however, are in even shorter supply than the professional men. The committee is pointing out to parents and youngsters that technical institutes offer useful and challenging careers for students who cannot go to a four-year college.

Uniform Tests On Compositions

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—A test of a student's ability to write compositions, as compared with work of other students the country over, has been developed by the Educational Testing Service here. The tests will be sold to schools.

Experts checked over hundreds of student essays on various topics. For each of several age groups they picked three typical compositions representing various standards of work.

Under the comparison system, these essays are checked with papers written by students on the same themes. The testers think more uniform judgments than ever before can be formed on students' abilities as writers.

The test program was financed by the Grant Foundation and directed by S. Donald Melville.

Calcium Booby Trap

HULL, Que., (AP) — A truck with a loose tailboard accidentally spilled a load of calcium along a hilly, two-mile stretch of highway north of Hull recently. Results: One truck overturned, three cars ditched, one station wagon and six cars dented. The silver-white chemical had created a slick, apparently by absorbing moisture from the air and oil from the road surface.

Diem To Go Visiting?

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, (AP) — A report is out that President Ngo Dinh Diem is going visiting. The government has shrouded Diem's moves in mystery since an attempt was made last February to assassinate him. But a reliable source said he will leave Thursday for a four-day visit in Thailand, and expects to call on Australia, Burma and India later this year.

Made Wrong Move

TOKYO, (AP) — A 17-year-old youth who complained to police that his bag was stolen in a station waiting room wishes he hadn't. Police caught the thief, recovered the bag and invited the youth to show up to claim his property. When he did, the youth was jailed. The bag was filled with women's lingerie shoplifted from department stores.

Lutheran Church Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—Baptized membership in the United Evangelical Lutheran Church stands at 62,004, a gain of 2,172, church officials reported.

A shipment of 137 registered American Brahman cattle recently was made to the Ministry of Agriculture in Bangkok, Thailand. The purebred Brahmans were purchased in Florida, Louisiana and Texas.

Health Protection Two-Way Matter

Beginning Pupils Need Good Physical Checkup

Every Year around this time, when there is excitement in the air about the opening of school, parents are apt to hear a familiar plea: Be sure and give your child a physical checkup before he starts to school.

The importance of his clean bill of health can never be overstressed, say teachers and school and family doctors.

The schools keep an eye on the child. Teachers have an opportunity to detect evidences of vision or hearing difficulties.

But, for the first year child especially for assuring themselves and the teachers that the child is entering school in the best possible health with all remediable defects corrected. Parents will save themselves and the teachers many headaches later if the child is sent off with his "best foot forward," so to speak.

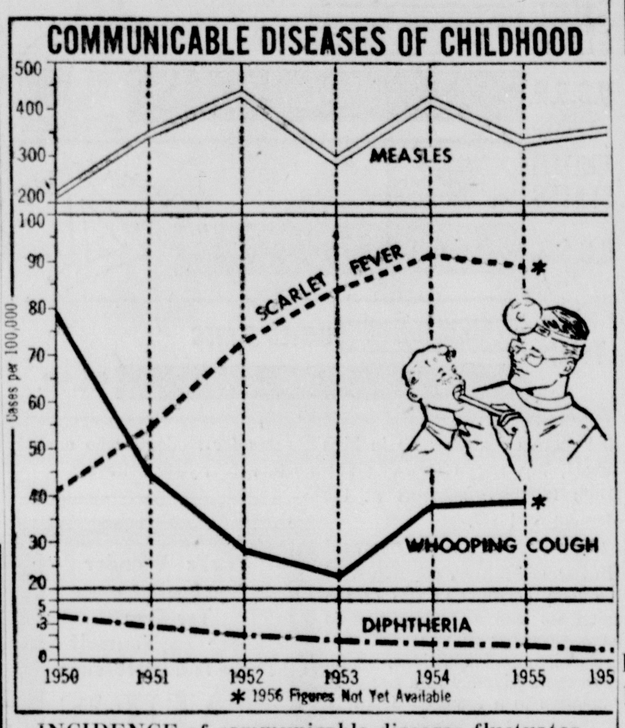

Many parents will not have to be reminded of these responsibilities, but they may need to be reminded that certain records and papers should be taken to school when Junior and Suzy make their first appearance. These are needed — and sometimes required by law — so the school will have complete information about the child's background.

Here is a list of some of the reports which may be needed:

1. Child birth certificate.
2. Immunization record. Most schools require vaccination for smallpox before school entrance. Doctors also recommend that children be immunized against diphtheria and tetanus, and be given polio shots.
3. A recent physical examination report. This should include a checkup on the child's teeth, hearing, and vision.
4. A report on illnesses the child has had, or on any serious accidents.
5. A listing of the members of the child's family and a brief outline of the family background.
6. A listing of any unusual tendencies, i.e., a tendency to stammer, or any nervous habits the child may exhibit when frightened or under stress. Such a report, which will be kept in confidence, will help the teacher understand the child better and make it easier for her to help the child.
7. A detailed listing of names, addresses and telephone numbers of two or three persons to be called if parents cannot be reached in an emergency. Also name and telephone number of family physician, dentist, and hospital to which the child might be taken.

Parents are also urged to respond promptly to any call or note from school officials who may discover some condition which should be corrected following a health examination. Mothers and fathers are encouraged to visit the schools often.

If parents will take their youngster for a head-to-toe examination before the first day of school and will make an effort to work closely with school officials after the child starts his classwork, they can be sure that he will have a good chance to get off to a happy, healthy start.

INCIDENCE of communicable diseases fluctuates, but modern medicine has reduced the death rate sharply over the years.

The acreage of forest land in Russia is more than 44 per cent of the country's total area.

Child's Needs From Parents Are Outlined

Some of the children's needs from their parents are revealed in compositions by students in grades four to six in Baltimore. The subject: "What I Think a Mother Should be Like." Sentences taken out of context:

"A mother should like children or she shouldn't have any."

"If a child makes something for his mother she should understand that he worked hard on it for her. She should use it and not put it away because it is the wrong color."

"A mother should not get angry when a child brings home a bad report card and say what a good report card she got when she was little. She should realize that the child feels badly enough and try to comfort her."

False Alarms Pay Off Well

DENVER—(INS)—The Denver Fireman's retirement fund is richer by $1,000 because of two false alarms.

A Houston, Tex., man sent the check to the firemen's fund in payment for two long-distance false alarms he called in as a gag.

China's population is estimated at 582,600,000, or more than that of the United States and Russia combined.

Voters Reject Fiscal Policies Of Cumberland

Increase In Tax Limit Defeated

The results of yesterday's overwhelming defeat of a proposal to raise the city tax rate limitation amounted to an outright repudiation of the fiscal policies of the present administration. The referendum to increase the limitation of the city's rate of $1.25 per $100 of assessed valuation by 25 cents saw 4,516 voters going to the polls to administer a 3,872 to 452 defeat to the proposal.

FRANK E. GAMBLE

Observers here today said the results of the balloting indicated that citizens have made it certain that the time has come for the Mayor and Council to tighten up the city's financial belts.

Eves Hopes For The Best

In commenting on the referendum, first to be held here under constitutional home rule, Mayor Roy W. Eves had this to say today:

"The election is over and the action of the Mayor and Council has been legally voided. My only thought is to proceed with the 1957-58 budget and hope for the best.

"I don't feel the results indicate a lack of faith in the Mayor and Council, but only that those who voted against us in 1954 aren't very good losers.

"I also feel that it would not have been fair to carry out the suggestion made to us to spend taxpayers' money to finance a campaign to thwart the use of democratic right of petition given them by the legislature.

"There never has been an election where you didn't have to hire cars and workers to get out the vote."

Long Sees Mandate

Finance Commissioner John J. Long, the only one of the five men to come out against the proposal, said this:

"The results of yesterday's vote indicate to me that the Peoples' Voice is demanding, in fact, is exacting, preemptorily, inconvertibly, that government adhere to the same principles of economy in spending tax dollars as the householder himself is forced to follow in budgeting his income after tax deductions.

"It is a mandate to us, the city fathers, that we become a little 'Hoover Commission' revamping and streamlining, if necessary, the present services of city government."

The shortest comment today came from the councilman with the longest tenure in the council, Water Commissioner William J. Edwards.

Vote Against Taxes

The veteran of nearly 20 years in the council said "it is quite evident that very many persons were not giving the matter serious thought."

William J. Buchholtz, street commissioner, said the 3,872 persons against the proposal were not voting against the Mayor and Council, but against the tax proposition.

A vote against the administration, he added, would have brought more people to the polls. Every one is tax conscious these days, he said.

"We're doing the best we can with what we have. Financially and debtwise the city is in better shape than it was in the 1930s."

"The Mayor and Council will have to sit down to work out the best budget for the best interests of the people. Maybe we can piece together a satisfactory one. My only hope is that we won't have to lay anyone off."

Cites Hardships

In referring to the fact that the Street Department has only one grader and one oil distributor to work on its miles of unimproved streets, Buchholtz said his workers could be in only one section at a time.

People must become aware that the city has expanded, taking in much more territory than it did, having to do street and sewer work in developed sections that a short time ago were fields he added.

With all these added and necessary services the city has to operate on the same amount of money, he concluded.

William V. Keegan, police and fire commissioner& could not be

COLLECTION DAY TOMORROW

Frank Gamble Named County Music Leader

Nebraska Man Has Been Teaching In Westchester County

Appointment of Frank E. Gamble, 39, a native of Nebraska, as supervisor of music education in Allegany County public schools was announced by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

Gamble accepted the position after a conference with Webster yesterday. He succeeds W. Valgene Routch, who resigned to take a position in the public schools at Allentown, Pa.

Gamble is currently working on his doctorate in music education and expects to receive the degree from Columbia University in a few months. He is working on his dissertation.

During the past school year Gamble taught music at Roaring Brook School at Chappaqua, in Westchester County, N. Y. In 1955-56 he completed the residency requirements at Columbia for his doctorate degree.

After graduating from high school in Wayne, Neb., he attended Nebraska State Teachers College at Wayne. He taught school at Creighton and Pierce in Nebraska for three years. He also taught three years in the public schools of Pomona, Calif.

During World War II he was in the Navy and attended the Navy School of Music in Washington. While there he completed work for his master's degree at Catholic University. For six years he taught music in Waynesboro, Va.

Gamble is married and the father of four children. After he obtains housing here his wife and children will come here from Millwood, N. Y., where they now reside.

$5,000 Bond Set For Ray H. Raines

ROMNEY—Judge Harlan M. Calhoun has signed an order setting bond of $5,000 for Ray H. Raines, 51-year-old Hampshire County man, who was convicted of an attempt to rape a 14-year-old Jersey Mountain girl.

Raines has been held in the County Jail here since his arrest in June. There is a motion for a new trial in his case, but Judge Calhoun has not yet set a date for hearing arguments on the motion.

Raines was originally charged with statutory rape. The jury found him guilty of the lesser count.

Route 40 Culvert To Be Widened

The State Roads Commission has announced plans for widening a culvert on U. S. Route 40 at Frostburg.

Low bidder on the contract, with $22,530, was the George Construction Company, and the firm has been forwarded a notice to proceed with the work that is located at the westerly end of Frostburg.

The contract calls for the widening of a 12 feet by 6 feet stone arch with a ten feet by six feet reinforced concrete box culvert. The work also includes grading of the approaches, the SRC said.

Former Resident Attains Dean's List

Mrs. Carl Reber of Greenbelt, the former Miss Marilyn Kreider of this city, was on the dean's list for the spring semester at the University of Maryland.

Schools Get Eye Testing Equipment

Device Presented Board Of Education By City Lions Club

A further service to the community is being provided by the Cumberland Lions Club with the presentation to the Allegany County Board of Education of an optical device by which school children can be screened for possible eye defects.

Robert E. Moore, club president, said the device was purchased from the Bausch and Lomb Optical Company and is known as a school ortho-rater. It will quickly and accurately determine those children who may have deficient vision.

The tests are for fair point visual acuity, farsightedness, muscle balance at far point, and also for near point. The tests are simple and easily understood. If the child does not pass the suggested test level, there is probably need for a complete eye examination. Only a complete eye examination by a professional man can determine the extent of suspected visual deficiency and the need for corrective lenses.

Moore also reported that during the period between July 1, 1956 and July 1957 the Lions Club paid for 300 eye examinations among children, 50 surgical operations, 125 pairs of glasses and one glass eye.

The committee of the Lions Club which operates the program consists of Glenn K. Davis, chairman; William George, Arthur F. Friedland, William S. Firey and Howard M. Cooper.

The sight conservation program has been conducted for a number of years and funds realized from the National Sports Car Races held annually at the Cumberland Municipal Airport are used for the program. The Lions are co-sponsors of the event with the Steel Cities Sports Car Club of Pittsburgh.

Dance To Honor Playfield Queen

The Teenage Club of Centre Street Playground will hold a dance today at 8 p. m. at the playlot in honor of the playground queen, Florence Buzzard, and her attendants, Alice Bennett and Patty Dreyer. Prizes will be awarded for the best dancers.

The playlot will observe picnic day tomorrow, and children are to bring their own lunches. Soft drinks will be provided.

A dress rehearsal for those who will be on the playground float in the parade Friday night is scheduled for 10 a. m. that day, according to Mrs. Margaret Buzzard, playfield director.

Winners in a recent on wheels parade and a costume show were Jo Ann Leasure, Suzie Keyser, Robert Martin, Steven Martin, Diane Ritchie, Sherry Weisenmiller, Barbara Garner, Charles Martin, Vicki Lapp Helen Harris, Cathy Ritchie and Toni Snow.

Area Schools Will Open On September 5

Almost 16,000 Are Expected To Enroll; Buildings Prepared

On September 5 almost 16,000 public school children will trek to classes in Allegany County to begin another term.

Based on pre-school registration and census figures taken by the Allegany County Board of Education the enrollment in elementary and junior and senior high schools will reach 15,935 children, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel.

His predication calls for an elementary school enrollment of 8,623 and a high school student body of 7,312. Fort Hill High School, the county's largest, is expected to have in the neighborhood of 1,975 students and Allegany High School probably will have about 1,600 in the six grades of junior and senior high school.

Northeast To Open

One new school, the Northeast Elementary School near Bowman's Addition, will be in operation for the first time in September. This eight-classroom structure, built by the George Construction Company at a price of $373,777, will have an enrollment of between 190 and 210 children.

Besides this new school, a number of other improvements have been made or are being made this summer to the facilities for the nearly 16,000 students.

The Cumberland Contracting Company is nearing completion of excavation work which is extending the Allegany High School athletic field. This $34,110 project is expected to be completed about September 1. This is the

Masonic Craftsmen Unit Formed In Cumberland

A lodge comprised of Masons who in their vocations are connected with any phase of engineering work is being organized in Cumberland.

The charter of Cumberland Council 53, Universal Craftsman Council of Engineers, is open and will remain so until at least 100 members are signed up.

Eugene T. Park, worthy chief, said there are now 62 men in the organization. The charter was presented at a recent meeting in the Moose Home.

Grand Deputy Lloyd Denton of Euclid Council 14, Baltimore, presented it to Park after degree work was conferred on 17 new members by degree team comprised of members from Washington, Baltimore, New Jersey, New York and Ohio.

Other newly elected officers of Cumberland Council are C. L. Herath, past chief; William Slough, assistant chief; Curtis Sheffler, warden; Carl Vandegrift, guard; Richard Kiser, treasurer; Lindsey Bray, secretary; H. M. Pick, financial secretary; Charles Robinson, chaplain, and Harold Bartlett, Selden Harris and Henry Neff, trustees.

The organization is for men from professional engineer to crafsman who work in conjunction with engineers.

The lodge was formed in 1894 by engineers and craftsmen in the Washington and Baltimore area.

Improper Use Of Machines Cancels Votes

One hundred ninety-two persons went to the polls in yesterday's city referendum, and their votes didn't count because of improper use of the voting machines.

This resulted from persons going into the voting machine booth, flicking the lever of their choice down, and then returning it to its original position.

By doing this they had not voted at all. When they returned the lever, the machine registered nothing after the handle was pulled to open the curtain.

The lever beside the vote of the choice must be left in the down position before the handle is pulled to open the curtain, both City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery and Earl E. Manges, president of the Board of Allegany County Election Supervisors, declared today.

A total of 4,516 persons went to the polls yesterday, but the results of 3,872 against the tax rate limitation increase, and 452 for it, only totaled 4,324. That left the 192 "non-voters."

Eagles Event Today

A monolith on which the Ten Commandments are inscribed will be presented to the city today by Cumberland Aerie 245, FO Eagles, at a program at 7:30 p. m. on the lawn of the Allegany County Court House.

Services Set Friday For J.N.W. Russler

Prominent Local Businessman Active In Sports, Politics

Services for James Nelson W. Russler, 78, of 15 Virginia Avenue, who died yesterday shortly after being admitted to Memorial Hospital, will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. at the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks, will conduct ritualistic exercises tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the funeral home.

In ill health four weeks, Mr. Russler had recently been released from the hospital.

Martinsburg Native

He was born on June 12, 1879 at Martinsburg, W. Va., a son of the late Nelson J. and Lenora (Hutzler) Russler.

After coming to Cumberland as a youth, Mr. Russler operated a barber shop on Virginia Avenue near Laing Avenue and later went into the music store business on Virginia Avenue with the late Guy P. Chadwick.

He continued the business after the death of Mr. Chadwick and later established the Russler Sound Service. He remained active in his business until his recent illness.

Colonel Russler, as he was best known, was a past president of the South Cumberland Business Mens Association and a member of Grace Methodist Church. He also was a member of Lodge 136, Knights of Pythias; Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles; Lodge 63, BPO Elks; Chapel Hill Volunteer Fire Company, and an active member of the Allegany-Garrett Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Active In Politics

Long active in politics, he served one term as county treasurer and two terms as county commissioner. He also was chairman of the Republican State Central Committee for Allegany County for 12 years.

An avid sports follower, Mr. Russler served as president of teams in two organized baseball leagues. He was head of the Cumberland club when it replaced Chambersburg in the Blue Ridge League in 1916 and was president of the local entry in the Middle Atlantic League for two years.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Florence (Bisel) Russler; a half-brother, Howard Kitchen, Springfield, Ohio; two half-sisters, Mrs. Frank Sheperd and Mrs. Mamie Moore, also of Springfield, and a nephew, Atwell Russler, Martinsburg.

DIES IN HOSPITAL—J. Nelson W. Russler, 78, well-known South Cumberland businessman, died yesterday shortly after being admitted to Memorial Hospital. The body is at the Scarpelli Funeral Home where services will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Referendum Brings Need For New Setup

Consolidation Of City, County Lines Reported Proper

The need for consolidation of precinct lines for both city and county elections was illustrated in yesterday's referendum in Cumberland.

The telephone rang constantly all day in the registration office at City Hall as hundreds of persons called to find out where they voted, or why their names were not listed on the poll books.

Two years ago, there was a move on foot to have the precinct lines in Cumberland coincide with the county lines.

Consolidation Backed

There are many instances where a person is registered in one precinct to vote in a city election, and in another for county and general elections.

And today, Earl E. Manges, president of the Board of Allegany County Election Supervisors, said consolidation is the proper thing.

Keeping one set of registration books would save duplication of equipment, offices, and effort, he added.

"Every one would know where to vote," he declared.

Two Sets of Books

Today, the city keeps one set of registration books for all Cumberland voters, and the county keeps another set at the Court House.

The Mayor and Council, together with City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, met several times about two years ago with the Election Supervisors in regards to this consolidation.

It became apparent that the city would have to change its code so that the Cumberland precincts would fall in line with county precincts.

The consolidation would require state legislation for the county to change its precinct lines, a City Hall spokesman said today.

Plan Was Dropped

With the advent of constitutional home rule, which gives the citizens the right to petition for a referendum on a resolution for a charter amendment passed by the Mayor and Council, the consolidation plan was dropped at that time.

Ullery today pointed out that it was known that there would be more petitions, under home rule and the poll books would be needed to check them to see if the signers are bona fide voters.

While no definite statement was made, it was pointed out by city officials that keeping the poll books at the Court House would cause an inconvenience.

Ullery today said the county and city lines should agree as closely as possible. The idea on consolidation has not been given up entirely, he added.

Senate Okays Naval Radio Construction

FRANKLIN — Approval of a $9,000,000 Navy radio facility in Pendleton County at Sugar Grove was contained in a military construction authorization bill passed by the U.S. Senate, according to Sen. Chapman Revercomb.

The authorization had previously been included in a House of Representatives appropriation bill.

According to present plans the facility is to be built on 1,300 acres of land and eventually will be manned by about 300 communications personnel.

Sen. Revercomb added that the installation, part of the Navy's communication system, is a classified project and no additional information can be revealed at this time.

It is known that representatives of government agencies have been in the Sugar Grove area in connection with the project.

The post office of Sugar Grove is about 25 miles from Franklin in the southern part of Pendleton Co.

Havre de Grace Bridge Work Scheduled

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Susquehanna River bridge at Havre de Grace will get its first face-lifting Sept. 4-Oct. 31.

Chairman Robert O. Bonnell of the State Roads Commission said traffic on the bridge would be reduced to one lane each way for that period, while the repair work is done. It will be the first resurfacing of the bridge, which carries U. S. 40 traffic across the river, since it was built in 1940.

Film Program Under Study

BALTIMORE (AP) — The chairman of the Maryland Board of Motion Picture Censors wants to keep children under 16 from seeing movies the board labels restricted.

The chairman, C. Morton Goldstein, said some films not actually censored by the board are "too rich for the kids." His plan, concurred in by other board members, would let parents decide if a child under 16 was sufficiently mature to see a movie labeled restricted.

Goldstein asked Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert if the General Assembly could constitutionally enact such a law. Sybert said it would take considerable research to give an opinion.

The proposal would require theaters to use the label in their advertising. Theaters would be fined for violations. Said Goldstein:

"Thus far the courts are confining the permissible areas of censorship to 'dirt for dirt's sake,' and our continuing to judge movies for the 'community as an average' requires, in my opinion, reasonable restrictions as to children."

preliminary step for the eventual construction of a $950,000 addition to the high school which will take a portion of the field nearest the present school.

The Silver Spring architectural firm of Johannes and Murray has been engaged by the County Board of Education to prepare plans for the Allegany addition.

Another project at Allegany High School is a complete rewiring job including the installation of new fixtures by the Maryland Electric Company for about $44,000. This is nearly finished.

The George Construction Company also is busy on a $34,224 project to remodel old Bruce High School in Westernport. The chief job is construction of a modern cafeteria in the school which will replace Hammond Street Elementary School when finished. This work will not be complete when classes resume next month.

Four painting contracts also have been awarded and Joseph T. Downey, supervisor of maintenance in the county schools, said that three of these projects should be completed before September 5.

N. S. Porter of Cresaptown has been awarded contracts to paint the exterior of the Cresaptown School for $2,076.35 and the exterior of the old Bruce High School in Westernport for $1,819. George C. Jones, this city, has the $930 contract for exterior painting of Centre Street School and George V. Steele, this city, will paint the Allegany House, Allegany High School home economics headquarters, for $375. All except the Westernport job are expected to be finished when school starts.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster also has transferred one school principal and appointed two teachers to principalships. J. Hubert Radcliffe, who has been Oldtown elementary and high school principal, has taken similar duties at Mt. Savage School, succeeding Alfred H. Benna, who resigned.

Joseph H. Pellerzi, a Fort Hill High School teacher, has been appointed principal at Oldtown, and Raymond Skidmore, who has been teaching at West Side School, is the first principal of the new Northeast School.

Webster and his assistant, Richard T. Rizer, have employed a number of new teachers to succeed others who have retired or resigned and only a few vacancies in specialized fields are yet unfilled.

Local Units To Honor Legislative Committee

Members of the Legislative Council committee on roads, which will hold a regional meeting here Monday afternoon will be guests at dinner that evening at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Hosts at the dinner, scheduled for 7 p. m., will be the board of directors and the Tourist and Convention Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, and the Route 40 Association.

A social hour, to begin at 6:15 p. m., will precede the dinner.

Guests will include all members of the Legislative Council group, State Senator Charles M. See and the Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly, Board of Allegany County Commissioners, Mayor and City Council of Cumberland and area representatives of the State Roads Commission.

Charles S. Catherman Jr., president of the Chamber of Commerce, will preside and serve as toastmaster.

Brief talks will be made by W. Earle Cobey, a director of the Chamber; J. L. Towler, representing the Route 40 Association, and F. Perry Smith Jr., a director of the Chamber and an officer of the South Cumberland Business Men's Association.

Talks will also be presented by Senator H. Winship Wheatley Jr., chairman of the legislative group, and Senator See, who is in charge of local arrangements for the committee's meeting here.

Sen. See has been advised that the committee on roads will hold its regional hearing Monday at 3 p. m. in City Hall here.

At its meeting here, the committee will be concerned with state road matters affecting Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, which are within District 6 of the State Roads Commission.

The hearing will feature a report on progress made in Western Maryland on the SRC's 12-year-program and proposals for changes in the plan.

Pekin Street Work Sought By Residents

A group of residents of Pekin have requested the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to authorize the blacktopping of Front Street in that community.

According to the communication signed by some 133 citizens, the Post Office is located on the street which makes it necessary for all residents to travel for mail.

Constant traffic, the letter stated, causes continual dust and there are many holes which make travel difficult. The commissioners referred the matter to J. Walker Chapman, supervisor of county roads.

Henry DeHaven complained of the condition of an alley leading off U. S. Route 220 at the corner of Grant Street in Cresaptown.

Mr. Chapman reported to the commissioners that the county has no jurisdiction over the alley. The commissioners have received a check for $1,218.73 from Mrs. Elinor Westerfeld, executive secretary of the Allegany County Welfare Board.

The check represents the county's share for recoveries from estates of deceased persons who received assistance from the welfare board and is for the period ending June 30, 1957.

It was received by Mrs. Westerfeld from the State Department of Public Welfare.

Pittsburgh TV Education Reaches Many

By BEN de FOREST

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The 10-year-old girl in the bright dress walked to the blackboard, picked up a piece of chalk and carefully wrote two numbers.

The numbers were those of the textbook pages for the day's lesson. The 30 boys and girls opened their books.

The teacher, Mrs. Louise Jamesson, stepped to the side of the classroom and lowered several window shades.

The pupils turned their attention to the television set in the front of the room. The image of Miss Mary Elizabeth Sefler appeared on the screen.

The day's social study lesson—a blend of geography and history—was under way in a fifth grade class at the Linden Avenue School.

Miss Sefler, seated in a studio at Pittsburgh's educational television station, WQED, talked about the mineral fields in the vast Southwest. The lesson was beamed to fifth graders in 23 elementary schools in Pittsburgh's metropolitan area.

Mrs. Jamesson strolled up and down the classroom. She looked over the notes each pupil was taking, occasionally paused to help a youngster.

The TV lesson lasted 25 minutes. Miss Sefler closed by asking four questions. She allowed enough time for the pupils to jot down their answers, then gave the correct ones.

PITTSBURGH fifth-graders raise hands during TV lesson. Mrs. Louise Jamesson is the teacher.

The principal of the Linden School, Miss Carolyn Patterson, said, "We're sold on this teaching by television."

It has a number of advantages, she feels. While the TV teacher gives the lesson, the classroom teacher is free to help pupils who have fallen behind. Instead of one teacher, the children have two.

Dr. Harvey E. White, vice chairman of the Physics Department of the University of California, teaches a general science lesson that is beamed to nine high schools in the Pittsburgh area over WQED. He spends 12 hours preparing one 30-minute class.

WQED now telecasts lessons in arithmetic, reading and social studies to fifth grade classes in the participating public and parochial schools. The station also carries a basic French course for elementary school pupils who want it.

WQED is the oldest community education TV station in the country. Its first telecast was on April 1, 1954.

Money was donated by the A. W. Mellon Trust, the Ford Foundation and the Arbuckle-Jamison Foundation. A total of $350,000 was spent in buying and installing equipment. Various large companies and executives gave space and time.

The station has a number of paid staffers, who have key positions. Unpaid volunteers, outnumbering the paid staffers three to one, handle all sorts of details.

The station receives financial support from the foundations, subscriptions to its bi-monthly newspaper, and an annual fund-raising drive.

WQED now operates on 138 kilowatts and can beam programs within a 50-mile radius of Pittsburgh. Any TV set can tune in.

The station has programs for children of kindergarten age on up. In 1954, it began a successful "Adult School of the Air" to help grownups earn high school diplomas. The station also carries programs on the college level.

WQED offers a summer school that gives school children a chance to make up work.

While the Pittsburgh program still is considered experimental, a spot survey showed that 72 per cent of families interviewed watch WQED at one time or another. Parents are willing, even eager, for their children to be enrolled in a TV class in school.

But He Wasn't On The List

WEST GLACIER, Mont—(INS)—National Park Service Ranger Robert Jasperson was lecturing 100 tourists when a grizzly bear strolled into the campfire circle.

The dangerous grizzly sauntered away after a few moments and Jasperson resumed his lecture, "What to Do and See in Glacier National Park."

Boy Injured In Fair Area Under Knife

BEDFORD — Eleven-year-old John Sproat Jr. of Bedford underwent surgery at Bedford County Memorial Hospital yesterday as the aftermath of a spectacular accident at the URC "big car" races Saturday afternoon at Bedford County Fair.

Young Sproat, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sproat of Green Lane, was the most seriously injured of eight persons when one of the racers locked wheels with another and then flipped over, crashing through a back-stretch fence into the crowd.

The smashup brought several thousands of grandstand spectators to their feet and in a matter of seconds crowds swarmed into the area where the dust cloud from the crash was settling. State Police reported they kept the accident scene free of spectators only with great difficulty.

Admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital, in addition to the Sproat boy, were eight-year-old Michael Reffner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Reffner of New Enterprise, and William Francks, 47, of Dawson.

Francks was discharged Sunday.

Sproat was listed as in fair condition, suffering from a broken leg.

The Reffner boy was also in fair condition, suffering from lacerations and skull injuries.

Treated at the hospital for abrasions and contusions were Patricia Meyers, 38, and Joann Meyers, 11, both of Windber; Carl Blankley, 52, of Everett; and Junior Hall, 35, of Ohiopyle.

The near tragic accident took place during the second heat of the second race at the half-mile dirt track at the fairgrounds. The driver of the car escaped injury.

Several ambulances raced through Bedford after the crash, carrying the victims to the hospital. Their sirens at once led to the belief that the crash had been worse than it really was. But fair officials combined to broadcast the extent of the injuries within minutes. Members of the Bedford Volunteer Fire Department, stationed at the races, obtained first-hand information by radio from the hospital and it was relayed by the fair's public address system.

It was the first incident in which spectators have been involved in many years of auto races at the fair.

W. Va. Governor Accuses Demos; In Angry Mood

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Gov. Underwood today accused the Democratic leadership of the State Senate of being "bent on destroying the efficient operation of State business in the interest of petty political harassment."

He said the qualifications of some of his appointees have been challenged by "certain well known Senate voices" and added:

"Without having the guts to specify their men, these senators attempted to hang a cloud of uncertainty and question over the head of every department in my administration."

Underwood made the angry speech at a meeting of department heads which he called this morning.

The governor made the speech shortly before leaving with several department heads for a trip into the Eastern Panhandle, the home grounds of the Senate's top Democratic leadership — Senate President Ralph J. Bean of Moorefield and Majority Leader Clarence E. Martin of Martinsburg.

The speech was prompted by the Senate's failure, at a special session of the Legislature Aug. 5, to act on 100 appointments submitted by the governor. The Senate put that matter off until next Jan. 7.

Underwood called the special session to make certain changes in the Korean Veterans bonus law to clear the way for financing the program. But, under a 1955 decision of the State Supreme Court, he was obliged to submit his appointments to the Senate at the special session.

Southern High Teacher Draws Different Post

OAKLAND — Richard Travis, football coach at Southern High School, will be transferred from the math department to fulltime physical education instructor when school opens in September, it was announced by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools.

This shift in the assignment for the coach is made possible due to the resignation of Carleton Hogue and the employment of Mrs. Evelyn Watson, fully certified math instructor, to replace Travis in that department.

Travis came to Southern last year from Aurora High School and, in addition to his regular teaching duties, assumed the assignment of rebuilding the Southern High School football team. Hawkins said that due to his efforts last season as head coach that prospects for the coming season were encouraging.

Mrs. Watson is a graduate of Fairmont College and holds her Master's degree from West Virginia University. She majored in mathematics while in college and has had 17 years of teaching experience. Her husband, William Watson Jr. has also accepted an assignment at Southern High for the coming year. Both have been teaching recently in Tunnelton High School.

Frostburg To Mark 'Little League Days'

FROSTBURG — Mayor Joseph James and Commissioners have designated Friday and Saturday of this week as "Little League Days" in Frostburg.

With the regular season coming to a close on Monday, August 19, and in jeopardy for lack of funds, it was decided that on Friday, beginning at 5 p. m., all members of the Little League teams in uniform will canvass homes for donations.

On Saturday the youngsters will be in the business district selling "Little League" lapel tags. It is hoped that enough money will be secured in this manner to assure a full program next season.

Attendance at the regular season games has fallen off to the point where "passing the hat" is almost a waste of time, and this is the only means the league has of securing funds.

New uniforms and equipment were purchased for the players this year, which depleted the treasury, but as these uniforms will be good for several seasons of play the expenses of operating the league will not be great next year.

The Elks-Eagles game, scheduled for Friday, will be played tomorrow at 6 p. m. in order to have all players available for the canvass Friday.

The O'Shaunessy playoffs for the season championship will begin Tuesday when Number 4 and 5 teams play a "sudden death" game for a place in the playoffs.

Brief Mention

The Arion Band will meet at the band hall on Uhl Street today at 6:45 p. m. before leaving for Lonaconing to participate in the band parade there. On Friday, the band will go to Fort Ashby to take part in the parade. They will leave Frostburg at 6 p. m.

The Young Women's Republican Auxiliary will meet in the club rooms on East Main Street at 8 p. m. tomorrow.

Miss Jeannine Richardson, Bowery Street, is visiting relatives in Detroit this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Chaney and sons, Dallas and Coy, visited friends and relatives in Cleveland, Akron and Lorraine, Ohio. Dallas Chaney is employed at the Reliance Electric Company and also attends Penn College, in Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Anderson and children, Bel Air, returned home after visiting Mrs. Anderson's mother, Mrs. Eva L. Conroy, Eckhart.

Admitted to Miners Hospital as medical patients were Ray Spriggs, 142 Main Steret, Westernport; Mrs. Eliza Rosenberger, RD 2, Frostburg; Mrs. Marie Kilduff, Midland; Mrs. George Lemmert, 54 Armstrong Street; William Leatherman, National and Patrick Harper, 12 Fairview Street.

Miss Catherine Hitchins, Carlos, was admitted to Miners Hospital as a surgical patient.

Mrs. Margaret Winner is convalescing at her home, 150 Maple Street, following major surgery in Miners Hospital.

Thomas Elias returned home yesterday after spending a week with his son, Dr. Thomas Elias Jr. and his family in West Englewood, N. J.

A meeting of the Mayor and Council will be held in the council chamber of City Hall tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

Ivan C. Diehl, dean of instruction, returned home this week following an extended vacation in Canada and the northern New England States.

John A. Price, Cleveland, is visiting friends and relatives here this week.

Barton

BARTON — Mr. and Mrs. Michael Comer and daughter of Pittsburgh visited Misses Ellen and Winifred Comer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gattens, Marietta, Ohio, and Mrs. Shirley Sonahoe of Los Angeles are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Gattens.

Mr. and Mrs. William Williams and daughter, Ruth, have returned to Madisonville, Kans., after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams.

Mrs. Elsie Mowbray returned to her home here after visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Keesling in Denison, Iowa. She also stopped over at Sharon, Pa., and spent some time with Mrs. Rachel Douglas and family.

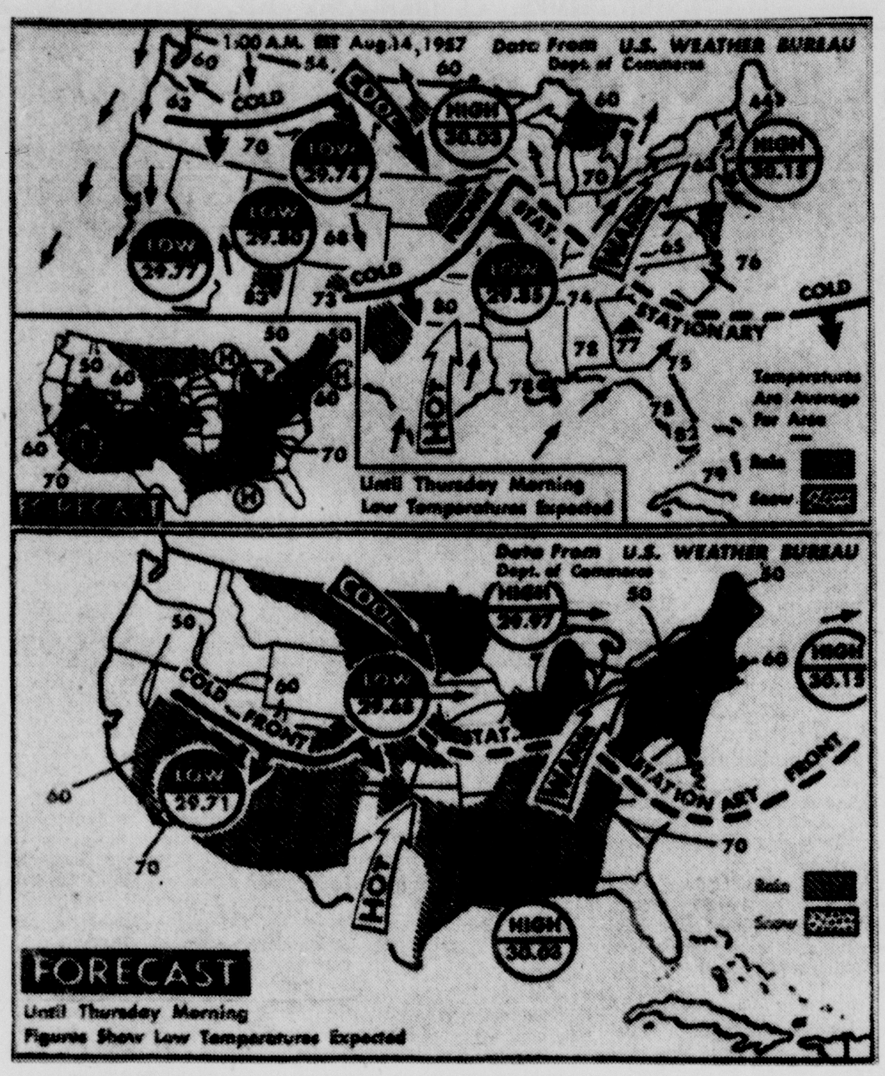

Mrs. Pearl Berford, Charlottesville, Va., is visiting her sister, Miss Martha McDonaldson.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rhodes and children, Arlington, Va., spent several days with Mrs. Daisy Hyde. They motored to Detroit over the weekend to the home of his mother. Rhodes has ended his navy service and will reside in Detroit with his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Grayson and children, Fort Ashby, W. Va., visited Mrs. Elsie Mowbray. They recently returned from a vacation to Niagara Falls and Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Metz, and Mr. and Mrs. John Milligan of Pittsburgh, have gone to Canada for a vacation.

Eagles are not particular in building their aeries (nests). Sometimes, in these highly placed nests have been found golf balls, lightbulbs and fish plugs.

WEATHER FORECAST—It will be warmer tonight in the Ohio Valley and in New England while hot weather will continue in Oklahoma. Cooler weather is predicted for the middle Mississippi Valley. Widely scattered showers are expected. (AP Photofax)

Sheep 'Scrapie' Case Reported In Hardy County

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—Commissioner of Agriculture John T. Johnson said yesterday that the first known case of "Scrapie" in sheep, an incurable virus disease affecting the nervous system which usually terminates in death, has been found in Hardy County by veterinarians of the State Department of Agriculture and confirmed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The disease was first introduced into this country about 10 years ago from England. Since that time it has spread through sheep sales conducted in Canada and the United States.

Dr. T. C. Green, state veterinarian, said the disease causes the wool to lose its luster accompanied by severe itching, biting and chewing movements of the lips and teeth. The animal becomes restless and excitable. The gait becomes unsteady. The animal may walk side-ways, stumble and fall down in a coma which may last for a few minutes. Dr. Green also said that these symptoms may last for six or eight weeks but usually terminate in death.

The disease is spread mainly through contact with diseased animals. Dr. Green reported that there are two West Virginia flocks totaling 309 head exposed to the disease either through blood lines or breeding.

The exposed animals must now be slaughtered to reduce the possibility of spreading the disease. The flock owners will receive federal and state indemnity payments according to the law for each of the slaughtered animals.

Dr. Green says that the disease is very hard to control since it requires from 18 months to 3½ years to develop after the animal is exposed. He advises West Virginia sheep owners that they should not become alarmed over the disease; however, they should report any suspected cases to their local veterinarian or to the State Department of Agriculture.

Bids Sought On Parsonage

PIEDMONT — The building committee of Trinity Methodist Church has asked for bids on their parsonage located on Philos Avenue in Westernport.

The sale of the building was authorized at the meeting of the recent quarterly conference and a portion of ground not needed in building the new parsonage on the approximate new ground.

The buyer will be required to raze the present parsonage and remove it from the grounds at a stiplated time agreed upon by the two parties.

When the plans are received, bids will be asked for the construction of the new parsonage.

Church Group To Meet

Shortage Of Soil Moisture Critical

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The shortage of soil moisture is becoming critical throughout West Virginia, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said today.

The dry weather is stunting pastures and hay grasses, and corn is not developing properly.

The service said that temperatures during the week ended Aug. 9 averaged somewhat below normal, and rainfall again was deficient in most areas.

828 Free Chest X-Rays Given To TuckerCountians

PARSONS — Mrs. H. U. Freeman, president of the Tucker County Tuberculosis and Health Association, said that 828 Tucker County residents took advantage of the service offered by the state owned and operated mobile chest X-ray unit at the recent mass tuberculosis clinics held in the county for two days last week. Clinics were held in Davis and Parsons.

Robert Cochran of Charleston was the technician in charge of the mobile unit. Tuesday Night Club members of Davis were in charge of the clinic in that community and the following members worked as clerks: Mary Frances Corrall, Anna Bogdonovich, Isabel Spiggle, Eleanor Jenkins, Ruth Shoemaker and Doris Arnold.

Assisting Mrs. Freeman in Parsons were Mrs. Luther H. Bennett, Mrs. Charles Buchanan, Mrs. M. D. Collison, Mrs. D. E. Crosten, Mrs. Harvey Hebb, Mrs. Harry Phillips and Mrs. Mary Warner.

In Davis 301 X-rays were taken, including X-rays to 90 boys from the West Virginia State Forestry Camp. One hundred and 50 people who were waiting could not be taken because of a breakdown to the machine. Mrs. Freeman said those remaining were told to come to Parsons the following day, but very few availed themselves of the privilege.

The State Department of Health in Charleston was notified of the breakdown and sent the necessary equipment to repair the mobile unit.

Five hundred and 27 X-rays were given in Parsons.

Mrs. Freeman said that the annual visit of the mobile chest X-ray unit to Tucker County plays a major part in the efforts being made to eradicate tuberculosis.

4-H All Star State Meeting Opens Friday

JACKSON'S MILL — The Alpha Chapter of the West Virginia 4-H All Stars, 4-H honorary, will hold its annual conference at the State 4-H Camp here, Friday through Sunday. Mrs. Mary Cunningham, Belle, is "big chief" of the group.

The keynote speaker for this year's conference will be a former Gilmer County 4-H club member, Dr. Dana Lyda Farnsworth, now of Belmont, Mass., who is the Henry K. Oliver professor of hygiene and director of the University Health Service at Harvard University. Dr. Farnsworth, who holds professional appointments in three Boston hospitals, is a Fellow of the Academy of Arts and Sciences; a Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association, and president-elect of the Group for the Advancement of Psychiatry. Also a former 4-H club leader, Dr. Farnsworth has devoted much of his professional career to the health of youth, according to Mrs. Cunningham. Recently, Dr. Farnsworth toured the nation to develop mental health courses in college curricula.

The annual All Star dinner will be held at 5:30 p. m. (EST) Saturday.

The 4-H All Star organization originated in West Virginia in 1919, and since has spread to several other states including Maryland, Virginia, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Mississippi and New Hampshire. Its motto is "Service."

District WSCS Votes Donations

FLINTSTONE — The Woman's Society of Christian Service of Flintstone Methodist Church voted $10 for supply work and decided to pay $50 on the parsonage debt at a meeting in the church. Mrs. R. O. Dolly and Mrs. Nan Wigfield reported $95 on the organ fund and the receipt of $12.70 in dues.

Mrs. Nina Bender gave the highlights on the School of Missions and Mrs. B. C. Robinette presided at the business session.

Miss Lillie Lashley was in charge of devotions, her theme being was a missionary pilgrimage travelogue. The meditation was given by Mrs. Homer Hout and Mrs. R. T. Gilson. Sentence prayers were offered and scripture read by Mrs. Smith. The group sang "Are You Able," "I Love To Tell the Story" and "Savious Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

There were 18 members present.

Education Board Plans Pre-School Meets This Month

OAKLAND — Pre-school meetings are now being planned by the Garrett County Board of Education staff. The first meeting will be a cafeteria workshop for two days, August 20-21, at Red House School. Robert Martin, administrative assistant who heads the county cafeteria program, will be in charge. He will be assisted by Miss Eleanor Weagly, state supervisor of the school lunch program. Miss Weagly will be on hand during both days of the workshop to discuss such matters relating to the school lunch program as menus, use of surplus foods, cost accounting, the Federal Milk Program and purchasing of supplies. All cafeteria workers and principals of schools with cafeterias will attend the two-day session.

On Wednesday, August 28, all supervisors and school principals will meet at Accident School for the day to discuss administrative policies for the coming year, as well as to plan together a program for the professional improvemen' of the schools. Thursday, August 29, all teachers are scheduled to report to their respective schools for the day to prepare for the opening of school. During the day, classrooms will be readied for school opening, teachers will meet with their principals for preliminary organization, new teachers will be oriented, and textbooks and instructional materials processed for opening day distribution.

Friday, August 30, the entire supervisory and teaching staff of the county will meet at Southern High School for a day of professional meetings. Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent, will bring the group up to date relative to the educational plans and program for the schools of the county in general. Mrs. Grace Dorsey, state supervisor of elementary schools, will talk on the subject," "What Is Effective Teaching and What Does It Take for One to Become a Good Teacher?"

During the remainder of the day various groups and departments will meet under the leadership of supervisors and selected teachers. The meeting will adjourn at 3 p.m. Schools will open for a full day Tuesday, September 3, at 9 a.m.

Polio Clinic Scheduled For Morgan County Fair

PSC HEAD — Myron R. Renick, Fayetteville attorney and real estate man, is the new chairman of the West Virginia Public Service Commission. He is a former national vice commander of the American Legion.

BERKELEY SPRINGS — The Morgan County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the Morgan County Health Department will cooperate in administering free polio vaccine at the Morgan County Fair.

The clinic will be conducted by Mrs. Bernard Hasenbuhler, county health nurse, assisted by volunteers from the Women's Auxiliary of Morgan County Memorial Hospital.

The vaccine is being paid for by the local chapter.

Clinic hours are: Tomorrow, 10 a. m. to 3 p. m.; Friday, 7 to 9 p. m.

Meanwhile, a busy two-day schedule is lined up for Governor Cecil H. Underwood and his party of top state officials on their visit to the Eastern Panhandle today and tomorrow.

The group came here in three special planes, landing at Municipal Airport at 12:15 p. m. Twenty-five were in the party, including nine press representatives.

Highlights of the visit will be the governor's appearance at the Morgan County Fair this evening and a public dinner tomorrow evening at The Shenandoah, at which the governor will be the principal speaker.

The visit here of the governor and most of his staff is unprecented in recent local history. In affect, it will be the temporary evacuation of the state administration from Charleston to the Eastern Panhandle.

The visit is in line with the governor's announced policy of visiting every state institution during his first year in office.

While here he will first stop for a tour of Air National Guard facilities at Municipal Airport before going to Cacapon State Park. Following dinner in Berkeley Springs, he will crown the Morgan County Fair queen, make an address and be a guest at a reception tonight will be spent at the Park View Inn in Berkeley Springs.

The party will leave early tomorrow morning for a breakfast engagement at 8 at Shepherd College. The governor will tour the state college buildings and then address students and townspeople briefly from the campus.

The next stop will be at the Harpers Ferry National Monument for a tour before coming on back to Baker VA Center, Martinsburg, for a tour of that facility.

The party will return to Martinsburg for a noon luncheon at the new Youth Center. This is being given by the Youth Center sponsors for the Chamber of Commerce.

The group will go back to Charles Town tomorrow for the horse races, leaving there at 5 p. m. for a stop at the West farm at Kearneysville.

The governor will then make an appearance at the Youth Center dedication at 6:30 p. m. before going to The Shenandoah for the 7 p. m. dinner. An informal reception to give people an opportunity to meet the governor and his officials is planned at the hotel following the dinner program.

They will spend the night at The Shenandoah and leave by plane for the return trip to Charleston Friday at 7:45 a. m.

Magistrates Given Ruling On Judgement

GRANTSVILLE — Magistrate C. S. Zeller of Grantsville has received an opinion from Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert concerning the time limitations in the issuance of executions on a judgment.

Magistrate Zeller had inquired whether he could issue execution on a judgment entered on his docket which is over three years old.

Sybert told the magistrate that the statutes of Maryland are silent as to the time within which executions on judgments of magistrates which are not recorded in the clerk's office of a court of law may issue.

It is therefore my opinion, Sybert wrote, that the common law limiting the period within which executions on judgments may issue to a year and a day is applicable. However, an execution issued after the expiration of a year and a day is not void, but is only voidable.

In order that the plaintiff who wishes to execute on a judgment may be better protected, we would advise that he becord a certified copy of the judgment of the magistrate in the clerk's office of the Circuit Court of Garrett County, and have the clerk of the court issue the execution.

Article 26, Section 21 of the Annotated Code of Maryland provides that on all judgments of magistrates recorded in the clerk's office of any court of law, an execution or attachment may issue out of such court at any time within 12 years from the date of the judgment.

Elks Launch Fund Drive

KEYSER—Keyser Lodge 1916, BPO Elks, will sponsor a campaign to raise funds to purchase a tank truck for the Keyser Fire Company. The drive will be in the direct charge of the social and welfare committee, of which H. J. Borgen is chairman.

A few weeks ago the firemen said they would not answer any more out-of-town calls because the Mineral County Court would not purchase them a tank truck. The firemen claimed they were seriously damaging their own equipment on calls to rural areas.

However, a fire company spokesman now says they will continue to answer out-of-town calls during the campaign by the Elks.

Letters have been mailed to local citizens asking for donations. Donations may be mailed to: Tank Truck Fund, PO Box 189, Keyser.

Eckhart Water Group To Meet

ECKHART — Miss Esther Carter, chairman of the recently organized Eckhart Water Association, announced that a meeting of the group will be held in the new elementary school tomorrow at 7 p. m.

Negotiations have been in progress between committees, appointed at the last meeting of the association, and officers of the Eckhart Water Company in a neffort to have the water company connect their lines with those supplying homes in Parkersburg, Kelly's Pump and other sections of Eckhart with water from Frostburg.

William Rephann, secretary of the association, states that reports of these committees will be given at the meeting, and plans made for further action so that water will be made available to those who need it before bad weather sets in.

Area Dinner Planned

Mt. City Miners Hospital Board Checks Project

FROSTBURG — The Board of Directors of Miners Hospital met Monday evening at the hospital and made a complete tour of inspection of the building and grounds, which are both undergoing extensive improvements.

Workmen for the Hout Construction Company, with heavy earth moving machinery, began regrading a large area adjacent to the hospital for a parking lot.

Work on this project was halted temporarily yesterday when one of the bulldozers struck the gas main which is near the surface at that point. It was necessary to hold up the project until the pipe could be taken out and placed at a lower level to allow for the new grade of the parking area.

The J. E. Dennison Company, painting contractors, completed painting all of the interior of the old wing, and egan painting the exterior of the building today.

Within a week or 10 days contractors will begin laying the new tile flooring in the rooms and hallways of the old wing of the hospital.

Word was received by the directors that the hospital has met all of the requirements and has been issued a full license for the current year, replacing the conditional license under which they have been operating for several years.

State Official Will Crown Tucker County Fair Queen

PARSONS — Commissioner of Agriculture John T. Johnson of Charleston will crown Miss Ann Raese, Davis, queen of the Tucker County Fair on August 30 at 3 p. m.

Johnson, who was appointed to his present position following the death of Commissioner McLaughlin two years ago, was elected to the state post last November. He is a former resident of Wood County.

The coronation execises will take place on the athletic field at the high school and the queen's tea will follow at the IOOF hall.

William R. Barrick, chairman of the speakers committee of the fair association, said an opening day—Thursday, August 29—speaker will be announced later.

Rev. James E. Callihan, who is making plans for the religious service to be held on the high school athletic field Sunday, September 1, at 3:30 p. m., reported that Rev. W. A. O'Dell of Hendricks would be the speaker.

The pageant, which has always followed the coronation of the queen in former years, will be presented on the athletic field at 8:30 p. m. Friday evening. Miss Loretta Shrout is again in charge of the feature.

A charge for adults and children will be made and Carl Barr, Robert A. Felton, Miss Shrout, Mrs. Lark Wilfong and Mrs. Virginia Schrecongost have been named to a committee to handle the advance sale of tickets. Women of the Moose will sponsor a teenage dance immediately following the pageant.

The committee in charge of the commercial tent exhibits reports that space is still available.

J. Kenton Lambert, president of the fair association, has again called for entries in the feature parade which will be held Saturday afternoon, August 31 at 4 p.m. Little interest has been shown to date by business men and only a few civic groups have indicated any intention of entering floats.

Charles F. Barb, who is in charge of the fly and plug casting contest, has announced that the event will be held on the lot adjoining the post office at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, August 31.

The firemen's parade will be held Labor Day, Monday, September 2 at 3 p.m.

Members of the Thomas Volunteer Fire Department have announced an ox roast at the high school gym in Thomas Sunday, September 1, starting at noon (EST) and continuing through the afternoon and evening so long as customers show up. The firemen have extended an invitation to fair visitors to drive up for dinner sometime during the day.

The County Council of Tucker County Farm Women's Clubs will again serve beans and cornbread at the K of P hall in Parsons Friday and Saturday evening. Firemen and band members taking part in the firemen's parade Monday will be fed after the parade.

The fair group voted to add a Future Farmers of America Department to the premium list this year and the following four categories will pay $1.50 for first prize, $1 for second prize and a ribbon for third; best vegetable exhibit, best grain exhibit, best potato exhibit and best farm mechanic's exhibit.

Persons planning to enter crocheted pieces in the needlework competition at the fair are asked to contact Mrs. Louis A. Williams who has details on a national contest in which the grand prize is a trip to Bermuda for two, plus $1,000 in cash.

Shower Honors Roberta Elias

FROSTBURG—A surprise bridal shower in honor of Miss Roberta Elias was held at the home of Mrs. John B. Elliott, 22 Chestnut Street, last evening with Mrs. Francis W. Elliott and Mrs. George Habeeb acting co-hostesses.

The table was decorated with fall flowers, with gold and white streamers reaching to the gifts presented the bride-to-be who will be married to Russell D. Lowe Saturday at 2:30 p. m. in First Methodist Church.

Present, in addition to the hostesses and guest of honor, were Miss Etta Lashley, Mt. Savage; Miss Shirley Odgers, Dallas, Texas; Miss Martha Frank, Miss Jane Souders and Miss Norma Nelson, all of Frostburg; Mrs. Edward Wallace, Mt. Savage; Mrs. Thomas Adams, Mt. Homey Schools Advocated

NEW CANAAN, Conn. (AP) — What are the secrets of being a good school teacher?

Miss Mary Jane Kelley, who wound up a half-century of teaching last spring, pondered the question.

She is a sturdy little woman whose kindergarten - to - fourth - grade classes in a one room school house were as famous locally as those of the socially prominent Miss Hewitt and Miss Porter (and just as hard to enter).

She kept her classes busy "so they had no time to get into mischief." She thinks the school room should look lived in and feel like a comfortable home.

Teaching methods change and often change back, she said. Arithmetic, for instance, is important again.

Reading has changed drastically, Miss Kelley recalled. She used a combination of methods in her 51 years of teaching — word, sentence, phonetic (and one suspects a bit of Kelley).

She made it a rule not to discuss a youngster with a parent in the child's presence. She believes teachers should leave their troubles at home.

A HALF CENTURY of teaching classes like this one gave Miss Mary Jane Kelley greater insight into handling children.

They should "develop the virtue of patience and never get discouraged, meet each day as it comes, stay young and interested in the children but always several jumps ahead of them."

There were 22 children in her last class, just about the right number for a teacher to handle, she feels, "without depriving the child of her best efforts."

"No two children are alike," she said. "Each requires different handling. Then too, children seem to have a personality change about every six months."

Recreation was given much attention. There were games, sessions at the pot-bellied stove toasting cheese sandwiches and marshmallows, fairy tales and other stories.

The big recreation was nature walks, looking for wildflowers and birds and learning about trees.

"Just as important to learn as the three Rs," said Miss Kelley with the zest she must have had through the years.

Teaching methods change and often change back, she said. Arithmetic, for instance, is important again.

Reading has changed drastically, Miss Kelley recalled. She used a combination of methods in her 51 years of teaching — word, sentence, phonetic (and one suspects a bit of Kelley).

More Males On Faculties Is Suggested

HAVERFORD, Pa. — Dr. Emmett A. Betts blames part of the shortage of scientists on an "alarming" lack of male elementary school teachers.

Betts, director of the internationally known Betts Reading Clinic, compliments women elementary teachers as "tremendously competent" but says: "Male elementary teachers are especially important for small boys because, like boys, their minds are attuned to the technical, mechanical and scientific things of modern life."

As a result of male teaching, Betts says, a boy begins early to form scientific concepts and "he will be primed for the necessary reading in the field."

Coffee Seedlings Wilt

KINGSTON, Jamaica, (AP) — Coffee seedlings distributed to farmers by the Agricultural Department with the aim of swelling Jamaican coffee production are having a rough time in an islandwide drought. William Henry, chairman of the coffee industry board, reports about 50 per cent have wilted.

North of the Arctic circle in Alaska there are 82 days in summer when the sun does not go below the horizon.

Shakespeare Big Hit

STRATFORD, Ont., (AP) —Shakespeare continues to be a smash hit here. A new 2,176-seat theater for the Shakespeare Festival has been filled to 90 per cent capacity and performances for six weeks brought in a boxoffice of $291,000, almost $25,000 above a similar period last year.

"Nervous" British

LONDON, (AP) — A Polish newspaper is sarcastic about the fuss the British made over two Polish submarines that showed up unexpectedly in the North Sea. Warsaw radio reported that the Warsaw newspaper Zycie said the subs were on a legitimate cruise but advised the Polish navy: "Don't frighten the British, they are more nervous than we thought." British navy and air craft kept a constant watch on the subs while they were near Britain.

Diessels For Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, (AP)—Argentina is taking delivery this week of the first of 25 diesel locomotives bought from France for the Argentine state railways. The other 24 are to be delivered before the year's end.

Great Britain uses about 11 times as much tea per capita as does the United States.

Soap And Water Good Medicine

A simple thing like more soap and water may shine up your teen-ager's personality and add more sparkle to his school and social life.

This is a tip from school health officials to parents in despair because their teen-agers are developing "personality problems" over bad skin, oily hair, or some other unattractive feature.

A report from the Joint Committee on Health Problems in Education of the National Education Assn. and the American Medical Assn. says that health conditions definitely affect the personality of school youth.

Young people of high school and college age, says the report frequently suffer rather serious effect from handicaps (cosmetic, visual, physical) which often may be corrected, or at least improved:

"Such persons may become shy, retarded or even anti-social because they feel so keenly their unattractive appearance or their seeming inability to behave like other people. Their personality may be permanently changed to the point where it will constitute a serious handicap in the affairs of later life."

The report suggests that parents see their sons and daughters have regular physical examinations, and be alert to any evidence of serious medical problems. It adds, however, that most of the problems may be helped by good grooming habits.

"The New Look" is a scrubbed look, says the report. "The young person who is intelligent and healthy needs little save soap, comb and brush to make an attractive appearance. Cosmetics have sometimes been used to cover dirt and the signs of age—but, since clean and healthy young people need not cover dirt or age, they can get along very well with a minimum of cosmetic assistance."

Braves' Surge Wrecks National League Race

A warm-hearted person, sincere, sympathetic and possessing elegance of manners. That was James Nelson W. Russler, the beloved longtime Cumberland sports figure who died yesterday in Memorial Hospital.

Nelson Russler

Known more familiarly as "Colonel," an honorary title bestowed on him many years ago by the Knights of Pythias, Mr. Russler was a gentleman in every respect. His popularity stemmed from indeterminate enthusiasms and tolerance in every field in which he ventured.

Politics and sports, endeavors which quite often feature bitter arguments leading to loss of friendship, were taken in stride by the civic-minded South Ender. No one practiced the old "Live and let live" policy more than the onetime president of the Cumberland Colt baseball team whose agility and ready wit belied his 78 years.

For more than a quarter-century, Mr. Russler served as official announcer at the Cumberland Race Track. He was also a familiar "behind-the-mike" figure at football and baseball games as well as at local boxing shows.

When the public address system blared forth with this lead announcement: "Now ladies and gentlemen," just about everyone knew that the voice belonged to Mr. Russler. It was his standard method of beginning an announcement.

Fight fans, most "cold-blooded" of all sports followers, loved him. Every once in a while, he'd point to the wrong corner while introducing a boxer. When the introduction brought protests from the crowd, the "Colonel" would break out in a smile, so typical of his makeup, then make the correction to the satisfaction of the customers.

Mitt fans like to recall the night at the State Armory during an amateur card when he introduced a fighter from Potomac State as hailing from "Potomac Edison College." Another time while describing a benefit softball game at Stitcher Field, he declared, "There goes a long fly to short field."

Such slips of the tongue, he used to say, test the alertness of fans and put a little life in the announcing.

Many times during his career as a ring announcer, boos would blare out when he reported a decision of the judges. Very diplomatically, the "Colonel" waited until the customers cooled off before attempting to continue.

Mr. Russler, who operated a business on Virginia Avenue, has always had a warm spot in his heart for athletics and was a firm believer in a well-knit recreation program for the city.

In 1913 he organized the old South End baseball team and managed the Cumberland Colts when that team played its home games on the diamond now known as Taylor Field.

Mr. Russler served as president of teams in two organized baseball leagues—the Middle Atlantic and Blue Ridge. He was at the helm when Cumberland took over the franchise of Chambersburg in 1916 and headed the local entry in the Middle Atlantic League for two years.

As a South End business man, he "adopted" Fort Hill High School athletic clubs as HIS teams. But never was he heard to criticize other schools when his favorites went down to defeat. "I just enjoy watching youngsters play, especially when a game is clean and hard fought," he asserted.

Mr. Russler has operated a sound service for years and he was not only willing, but actually eager, to donate his equipment and personal services anytime a benefit sports event or non-profit civic undertaking was held.

A former county treasurer and holder of a county commissioner's office for three terms, as well as chairman of the Republican State Central Committee for 1- years, the "Colonel" was naturally well known. Being kind and considerate added to his popularity.

Death has taken from the community a most benevolent person in "Colonel" Russler but the voice of the veteran colorful announcer will long echo with a ring of impartiality.

Milwaukee's Lead Leaps To 6½ With Latest Win

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

What Milwaukee's Braves are doing to that National League pennant race may be the biggest bustup since Cleo nixed Caesar.

In 10 days, they've rolled up eight straight victories — all against contenders — and have surged from half a game behind to 6½ games ahead.

Starting with the game that put them in front, the Braves have been 7-0, while the combined record of the other contenders (St. Louis, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Philadelphia) has been 7-11 — a "natural" for Milwaukee.

Braves Chop Reds

The Braves stayed with it last night, again putting the whammy on fourth-place Cincinnati for a 12-4 romp. Lew Burdette won his 11th with an eight-hitter and two home runs, his first in eight major league seasons.

Chicago's Cubs handed second-place St. Louis a seventh successive defeat, 6-2; and the New York Giants knocked off third-place Brooklyn 4-2 while Pittsburgh clipped fifth-place Philadelphia 6-0 on Bob Friend's two-hit pitching.

In the American League, first-place New York remained 5½ ahead, beating Boston 3-2 while Chicago's second-place White Sox rapped Cleveland 10-5 for Billy Pierce's 16th victory. But in what may be the AL's only real race, Mickey Mantle was 3-for-3, drove in all the Yankee runs, hit his 32nd home run, and climbed within four points of Boston's Ted Williams, who added a point to his leading bat average with 1-for-2 for .388.

Orioles In Fourth

Baltimore defeated Washington 5-3 and took fourth place from Detroit as the Tigers defeated Kansas City 3-1, then lost 3-2 in 14 innings in a day-night doubleheader that hoisted the A's out of the cellar and plunked Washington in.

Friend, a 26-year-old right-hander, gained his third two-hitter in the majors and an 8-15 record while giving up singles to rookie Harry Anderson and veteran Gran Hamner. Bill Mazeroski drove in four runs with a homer and double off loser Warren Hacker.

Billy Gardner hit two home runs with his second beating reliever Joe Black for the Orioles. Connie Johnson won his 10th.

Twilight Fourth At Stake Today

They should finally be able to get a "fourth" for the playoffs in the Twilight Baseball League with Wright's Crossing meeting Midland this evening at Zihlman for the position. Game time is 5:30.

Wright's Crossing, Midland and Finzel had wound up in a three-way draw for the position at the end of the season. A round-robin series was scheduled but in the first meeting of Wright's Crossing and Zihlman the teams fought to a 9-9 stalemate with the contest being called because of darkness in the eighth inning.

Then, Monday evening, Wright's Crossing came through with a 5-1 victory on the two-hit pitching of Ronnie Rice. That brought about the tilt this evening against Midland.

The winner today moves into the best-of-three semi-finals against second-place Lonaconing on the latter's field. First-place Barton and third-place Zihlman open their set at Zihlman with both lidlifters slated for Friday evening.

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Amos Alonzo Stagg, football's grand old man, celebrated his 95th birthday three days early — with a 7-foot high, 200-pound birthday cake.

Stagg's birthday occurs Friday, but yesterday the Stockton Lions Club held a pre-birthday party for him.

Former Notre Dame coach Frank Leahy, the guest speaker, credited Stagg with the "most scientific offense I have ever had the privilege of learning."

Stagg, who's been coaching football since before the turn of the century, said he had "kept my promise to God — to work with youths as long as I'm allowed to stay here."

Richardson, Bob Wilson Tangle Today

NEW PORT, R. I. (AP)—Second-seeded Ham Richardson of Westfield, N. J., shooting for his third Newport Invitation Tennis Tourney title in the past four years, will tussle with Bob Wilson, No. 3 English player, for a quarter-final position today.

The auburn-haired Britisher and the top-ranked Yank last met here in 1955 when the unseeded Wilson stole the show until halted by Richardson in the semi-finals.

Top-seeded Ashley Cooper of Australia will duel Donald Dell, of Bethesda, Md., in the 16-player round, which contains five Australians.

Davies Meets Fraser

Mike Davies, 20-year-old No. 1 rated British netman, will oppose lefthanded Neale Fraser, third-seeded Aussie, while fourth-seeded Mal Anderson, a cowboy in central Queensland before he took up tennis, stacks up against burly Barry Mackay of Dayton, Ohio.

Miami's Mike Green, moving forward at the Casino just as classily as in 1956 when the Florida flash forced Richardson to four sets in the semi-finals, gets a crack at Roy Emerson, another Aussie and fifth seed.

Sam Giammalva of Houston, Tex., sixth-ranked member of the still unscathed seeded list, finds Art Andrews, of Iowa City, in his path and blocking seventh-seeded Gil Shea, of Los Angeles, is Ron Homberg, brilliant kid from Brooklyn.

Ham Beats Farrin

Richardson, Green, Shea, Davies, Emerson and Wilson, starting a day behind the others, advanced to the third round yesterday with straight set victories.

Richardson defeated Jim Farrin of Princeton, N. J., 9-7, 6-3 and Green swept past Norman Perry of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-2. Shea defeated Dave Harum of Coral Gables, Fla., 6-1, 8-6 and Davies eliminated Ed Sledge of Dallas, 6-2, 8-6. Henry Van Renselaer of Greenwich, Conn., fell before Emerson, 6-3, 6-2 and Wilson disposed of Ed Atkinson of Los Angeles, 6-4, 6-3.

Allegheny football coach William (Red) Moore, a Penn State Alumnus, also coaches wrestling.

Yankees Must Win Today To Stay In DD Playoffs

The Yankees, Dapper Division champs, are faced with the task of stopping the team with the best won-lost record in the Dapper Dan Division this evening at Penn Avenue Field if they wish to keep in the double-elimination playoffs.

The Yankees, who never made the finals in the seven previous seasons of the circuit, must win this evening against Senators or wait until next year for another crack at the crown.

The Red Sox playoff victor in 1956, dumped the Yankees, 12-2, Monday evening. The Sox finished as kingpins of the Dan Division.

Senators also won both halves of the Abrams circuit and posted a record of 11 wins and but two losses for the season. The Yankees, who had to whip the Giants in a playoff for the second half, took 11 of 14 for the campaign while the Red Sox bagged 11 and dropped four. They beat Phillies twice for the split-season titles while also winning over Athletics in the second half.

Pony Series To End Today

If Ellerslie hopes to add the playoff title to its pennant in the Bi-State Pony Baseball League the Red Sox will have to win their contest this evening against Cresaptown at Ellerslie.

The important clash is the deciding game in the best-of-three semi-finals. The other two teams involved in the series, Mt. Savage and Lonaconing, will meet Friday to determine the finalist from that series.

Ellerslie, winning the pennant by three games over second-place Mt. Savage, was halted from sweeping the series against third-place Cresaptown when losing a 10-6 decision Monday evening. The Sockers had taken the opener with ease, 12-3, last Friday.

Mt. Savage, the defending champ, also was stopped from a sweep in the set against Lonaconing when being edged, 9-8, Monday on a three-run rally in the bottom of the seventh. 'Savage had scored a 10-0 shutout in the lidlifter.

Today's game will start at 5:45.

Mickey's Aim .370, Closes In On Williams

BOSTON (AP)—"All I want to do is hit .370 this year and I don't care if Ted Williams hits .420."

The speaker was Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees after beating Boston 3-2.

The fleet, power-hitting outfielder had just extended his American League home run lead with No. 32, assumed command in the runs-batted-in competition and was breathing heavily down the neck of Williams in the batting race.

Making a determined bid to become the first player ever to win two successive triple crowns in batting, Mantle beat the Red Sox last night on a towering, two-run homer which traveled 400 feet into the right field seats.

Mickey also connected for two singles and drew a walk for a perfect night which raised his average to .384 — a five-point increase. Meanwhile, Williams singled in two trips to climb a notch to .388.

Mickey's homer put him two ahead of runners-up Williams and Roy Sievers of Washington (30 each). His three RBIs lifted him to 83 while previous leader Sievers remained at 81.

Pastrano Cuts Eye, Bout Postponed

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—(INS)—Tuesday night's scheduled boxing match at Miami Beach Auditorium between heavyweights Willie Pastrano and Roy Harris has been postponed because of a deep cut near Pastrano's left eye.

The 21-year-old former New Orleans fighter suffered the cut yesterday during a sparring session. Pastrano was upset by Harris of Cut And Shoot, Tex., in June, the bout which was to have been televised nationally.

Player Of Day

Lew Burdette Turns Slugger In 12-4 Win

By International News Service

Lew Burdette must be spitting on his bats now.

Charges of throwing a spitball have been leveled against the star righthander of the Milwaukee Braves for many seasons.

Early this season, after Burdette weaved his usual masterful spell over Cincinnati in a 1-to-0 win, Redleg officials protested officially to league officers that he was throwing a spitter.

Burdette denied the charge and the league, in effect, turned down the protest. Cincinnati manager Birdie Tebbetts even went so far as to take motion pictures of Burdette's pitching technique.

Now Tebbetts probably wants photos of how Burdette bats.

The 30-year-old pitcher belted two homers and a single last night and drove in four runs as Milwaukee whipped Cincinnati, 12 to 4. It was Milwaukee's 12th win in 14 meetings with the Redlegs this season.

The batting outburst was all the more unexpected because Burdette had never hit anything longer than a double before in the majors.

Burdette was born in the appropriately named town of Nitro, W. Va., and pitched one inning for the 1950 Yankees. He was traded to the Boston Braves the next year in the deal for Johnny Sain. The 6-foot-, 180-pounder had his best season in 1956, winning 19 and losing 10.

Mexico Feather King Makes U. S. Debut Tonight

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Victor Manuel Quijano, Mexico's featherweight champion who is looking for new worlds to conquer, makes his U. S. debut tonight as a 9-5 underdog to high riding Davey Moore of Springfield, Ohio.

They will meet in a television (ABC, 10 p. m., EDT) 10-rounder at War Memorial Auditorium.

It's a big opportunity but a formidable hurdle for the 23-year-old 5-7 Mexican. Moore, a squat, 5-3 23-year-old boxer-puncher, right now rates with the best in the 126-pound division.

Davey vaulted to No. 6 among the contenders when he gave classy Isidro Martinez of Panama a trimming at Washington, July 5. He has scored 12 knockouts and has never been stopped.

Quijano, a pro since he was 15, has won six straight. His record is 61-10-7 including 18 kayos. He has been halted once.

Elbow Chips End Lemon's Pitching Year

CLEVELAND (AP) — For Bob Lemon the 1957 season is over, and it's one he won't forget for a long time.

In seven of the last nine seasons the Cleveland right-hander has been a 20-game winner. But this year he has won only six, lost 11, and finished only two of his 17 starts. His earned run average is 4.59.

Last night Dr. Don Kelly, team physician for the Indians, gave the 36-year-old pitcher the bad news. There are bone chips in his elbow, and "elbow operations are seldom successful in cases like this," so "about the only thing he can do is rest."

To Go Home

Lemon is to go home to Long Beach, Calif., and report next spring.

"This is one year I'll never forget," he said. "Everything happened. It all started when my sister died and I was never able to catch up."

He missed the last week of spring training because of the sister's death. A month after the season opened his record was 3-4. On May 24, in a game with Chicago, he tore a thigh muscle while fielding a bunt. He went home to Long Beach and when he returned to action it was June 13.

Teeth Pulled

About that time the elbow began bothering him. He went to a specialist, who advised a dental examination. Two teeth were pulled. The elbow did not improve. Several weeks ago x-rays showed the chips. He was given as much rest between games as possible, and it was a case of seeing whether he could keep pitching at all. Last night the verdict was given.

The pitcher's trip to the West Coast will be delayed for a while. His son Jimmy, 6, has the mumps. He has two other sons — Jeff, 9, and Jerry, 4.

"If the others get the mumps too," said Lemon, "We could be here for the rest of the season."

WINNER GETS TROPHY—Mrs. Fuller B. Whitworth yesterday won the Carroll Boggs Trophy by beating the Cumberland Country Club golf pro, 5 up in match play with handicap. Thirty-three women took part. Boggs shot a par 71 and Mrs. Whitworth, shown receiving the trophy from Boggs, had a gross 85. Mrs. Whitworth is the ninth member of the Women's Golf Association of the CCC to get her name on the trophy. Others are: 1947—Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, 1948—Mrs. Ellen M. Dixon, 1949—Mrs. Louise Glick, 1950—Mrs. William Somerville, 1951—Mrs. G. William Bibby, 1952—Mrs. R. W. Trevaskis Jr., 1953—Mrs. William Carscaden, 1954—Mrs. Fred W. Mills, 1955—Mrs. Gordon L. Bowie, 1956—Mrs. R. W. Trevaskis Jr. The tourney is one of the highlights of the women's golf season.

Pitcher Nearing Perfect Year, Wins 19 In Row

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — In Louisiana's Bayou country where baseball is played with something more than the usual zest, a raw-boned righthander may answer the Yankees' search for another mound great.

Bob Reisener, a 19-year-old Linden, N. J., native, is approaching the dream of every pitcher — an unbeaten season. The 6-2, 195-pound fireballer posted his 19th victory for Alexandria's leaders in the Class C Evangeline League last night. Reisener has yet to lose and the season ends one week from today.

In 1931 Billy Burke was the first to win the National Open with steel shaft clubs. In 1957, Dick Mayer became the first to win the Open with glass shaft clubs.

Ken Venturi, making his first start as a professional in the 1957 National Open, tied with Fred Hawkins for sixth place with 286.

Hutchinson Predicts Cards Will Overtake Milwaukee

CHICAGO—(INS)—A determined Freddie Hutchinson, manager of the slumping St. Louis Cardinals, predicted today that his Redbirds would "bounce back and overtake the first-place Milwaukee Braves."

The Cardinals, losers of seven in a row including four to the seventh-place Chicago Cubs, were described by Hutchinson as a team "having a difficult time in coming up with the hit when its been needed most."

He shook his head when asked if his team was having bad luck after yesterday's 6-to-2 loss to the Cubs and said:

"We're just not hitting. That's all. But we still have 43 games to go, and as far as I am concerned, we can overtake the Braves. We move into Milwaukee Friday for a four-game set and that may tell the story.

"The pitching has been pretty good but most of the regulars outside of Al Dark and Stan Musial are failing to come through when we need that one hit."

Hutchinson closely scrutinized his team during batting practice before the game against the Chicago Cubs. He stood for a long time with his arms folded, taking time out only to spit out the tobacco juice.

"That kid playing second base, Don Blasingame, is having a lot of trouble so I'm encouraging him to hit up the middle. Ken Boyer is having trouble so I'm trying to get him to start his swing a little earlier."

Hutchinson praised the Braves and said they looked better to him last weekend than at any other time in the last two years. He added:

"They sure had a lot of poise and polish and they looked like a well-knit outfit. I guess that's what Red Schoendienst has done for them. They were just another club without him. They seem to jell when he's around."

Asked if he wished he had the old Redhead, Hutch said:

"What do you think? He's the greatest take-charge guy I've ever seen. But as far as the Braves are concerned, their pitching won't stay that hot. That Gene Conley has been throwing a lot of junk and getting away with it. We'll be getting to him this weekend."

British Colt Gets Laurel Invitation

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Pipe of Peace, a three-year-old British colt trained by Sir Gordon Richards, has been given the first invitation to the 1957 running of Laurel's $100,000 Washington International.

The invitation was cabled yesterday to Richards and the colt's owner, Stavros Niarchos.

The sixth International, a turf event, will be run at Laurel Nov. 11 at a mile and a half. The expenses-paid, by-invitation-only race matches some of the best foreign horses against two or three American entries.

A committee headed by Laurel's president, John D. Schapiro, decides which foreign horses will be invited while a group of turf writers chooses the American horses.

Pipe of Peace, the leading juvenile colt in England last season, won the Gordon Stakes at Goodwood Aug. 1 at the International's mile-and-a-half distance.

If the Laurel invitation is accepted, Richards will be making his first trip to America. The 53-year-old former jockey, who holds a record of 4,870 winners for his riding career, retired from the saddle three years ago.

Two U. S. Women Swim Marks Fall

HOUSTON, Tex. —(INS)— Two U. S. women's records have fallen in opening competition of the National AAU senior women's outdoor swimming and diving championships.

In one event last night, the one-mile freestyle race, four contestants topped the previous U.S. women's record.

Carolyn Murray of Los Angeles won the event in 22 minutes, 13.9 seconds, beating the mark of 23 minutes, 3.4 seconds set by Carolyn Green of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in 1953.

The old mark also was bettered by Brenda Dietz of Washington, D. C., Donna Graham of Indianapolis and Joanna Blackwell of Indian Springs, Calif., who finished in that order behind the winner.

Dawn Fraser of Australia, who holds the 100-meter world record for women, set a new women's record for American meets in the 110-yard freestyle contest with a time of one minute, three seconds.

Rotary Hopes To Pad Lead This Evening

Rotary Club will have a chance to pad its Hot Stove Baseball League lead to a game today when it tangles with B'nai B'rith under the lights of Penn Avenue Field, starting at 8 o'clock.

The Rotarains saw their lead melt to a half-game when the runnerup Elks nosed out the Jaycees in a 7-6 thriller last night at Penn Avenue. Rotary had a 15-4 record with two games to play, while the Elks are 15-5 with one to go.

Trailing 6-1, the Elks started whittling down the Jaycee lead by scoring four runs in the sixth frame. Donnie Nave tripled in the seventh but held third as Growden was thrown out at first base. Glenn Shipway was safe on a fielder's choice. Then Charley Rice sewed up the game for the Elks with a double that sent Nave and Shipway home with the tying and winning runs.

Rice, Elks' starting pitcher, was forced to retire in the top of the seventh when he pulled a muscle in his side. Roger Growden finished for "Farmer" Northcraft's club. Rice fanned 12 and gave up four bases on balls.

Mike Aaron homered with two mates aboard in the sixth when the Jaycees scored five runs.

Nave smacked a triple, double and single to head the Elks' attack. Shipway of the Elks and "Butch" Cross of the Jaycees obtained two hits each.

Clarence Kean, Jaycees' pitcher, fanned eight and issued one base on balls.

In another game at Penn Avenue yesterday, the Lions pushed across four runs in the seventh to whip Exchange Club 5 to 1.

The Lions closed the season with a 10-11 record while Exchange wound up with no wins and 21 losses.

Ronnie Evans, winning pitcher, yielded only three hits and struck out 17. Jimmy Seeders, who started on the mound for Exchange and gave way to Smith in the seventh, whiffed 13.

Eddie Gaus accounted for three of the Lions' six hits—a homer and two singles.

City League Playoffs Open Today With Pair Of Games

The City Softball League race, a thrilling one all season between Knights of Columbus and Hermans, kicks off its playoffs this evening as the Caseys face Old Germans at Stitcher Field while Hermans and Old Exports tangle at Post Field.

The games are the first in the best-of-three semi-finals with the clubs exchanging fields Friday evening in the second tilts.

The Caseys and Hermans finished in a deadlock for the lead with the Knights getting the first position on the flip of a coin. Hermans were awarded second with Old Germans third and Old Exports fourth. Blue Ribbon Bakery was the fifth club and failed to make the rounds.

The Caseys and Old Gees met five times during the year with the Knights taking four of the clashes. George Harris, who accounted for all the wins (15) and losses (5) of the K of C, whipped the Brewers, 7-2, 8-3, 7-6 and 6-0.

The loss was a 3-2 battle with Bob Hook getting the nod. The Old Gees finished fast in the season and wound up with an 11-9 record.

Hermans, last year's champs in the County Softball League, swept the five meetings with Old Exports as Junior Brelsford nabbed three of the four decisions and Hayden Phillips the other.

Brelsford's victories were 12-3, 1-0, 3-1 and 7-5. Phillips got the last one by a 6-3 margin. The Mountain Water crew wound up with a 5-15 log for the campaign.

Both of today's and Friday's games will begin at 6:15. The finals will also best of best-of-three series.

Maplehurst Gals Defeat Oakland

Taking three foursomes and tying in another, the women's golf team of Maplehurst Country Club defeated the Oakland Country Club golfers yesterday by a 10-8 score on the Frostburg course.

Hilda Pritts of Oakland turned in low gross score of 100 while Mildred Spates and Nellie Hilton tied for low net with cards of 119-40—79. Mildred Spates and Ellen Seefield tied for lowest number of putts with thirty each. The summary:

Hilda Pritts and Dot Glotfelty, Oakland, defeated Martha Cook and Dolly Dean, 3-0.

Virginia Lohr and Becky Teets, Oakland, tied Ruth Woods and Mildred Spates, 1½ to 1½.

Ellen Seefield and Linda Pritts, Oakland, defeated Gwen King and Ruth Loar, 3-0.

Nellie Hilton and Diana Meehan, Maplehurst defeated Regina Smith and Polly Welch, 2½ to ½.

Louise Bampton and Blanche Stevenson, Maplehurst, defeated Evelyn Ault and Melva Sively, 3-0.

Ann Cook and Lou Devers, Maplehurst, defeated Ann Smith and Roberta Conn, 3-0.

Althea Gibson Leads Advance

MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP)—Top seeded Wimbledon champion Althea Gibson led the advance into today's second round competition of the 20th annual Women's Invitational Tennis Tournament at the Essex Country Club.

Miss Gibson defeated Belmar Gunderson of Chambersburg, Pa., 6-0, 6-0 in yesterday's first round of singles play.

Meanwhile the foreign contingent took a beating. Seven of the nine foreigners in the field of 32 were eliminated.

Two games are scheduled today in the Rocking Chair Softball League, the second-place Elks testing fourth - place Pittsburgh Plate at Allegany Field and third-place VFW meeting Knights of Columbus at East Side. Both games are scheduled for 6:15.

Front-running Outdoor Club is just about "in" for the second straight year as league pennant winner. Cecil Grimes' powerhouse moved to within a game of that goal yesterday when it nosed out a surprise Celanese team, 4 to 3, on the Silkers' diamond. The game marked the first time this season that Celanese had been able to score on the pacesetters who have won ten straight games.

George Evans' double drove in the tying and winning runs in the fourth inning of yesterday's game. Celanese was leading 2-1 when the league leaders sewed it up with a three-run outburst in the fourth.

Elliott Wins Ninth

Pete Elliott, with help from Glenn Kauffman in the final frame, bagged his ninth consecutive win without defeat. The loss went to "Dusty" Rhodes.

Ted Durbin collected three hits for O.D.C. and "Windy" Jones accounted for two of the Celanese seven safeties.

V. F. W. returned to third place by whipping Pittsburgh Plate Glass in eight innings at Stitcher Field by the score of 8-7. Tom Gifford, who came on in the 7th as relief for "Chug" Aman, got the win, his third against no losses.

Aman, the Vet's pitcher-clean-up man, continued his batting spree by slamming a double and two singles in four trips. In 15 plate appearances in the last five games he has hit safely 12 times.

Trailing 7-4, V.F.W. came up with three runs in the seventh to knot the count. Bill Dean's single sent over the first run and Phil Reuschel's hit drove in two more. In the ninth Aman singled, moved to second on a passed ball, took third on "Dil" Fradiska's sacrifice and scored the winning marker on Harry Minnick's single after Fred Comer was intentionally passed.

Blow Big Lead

Minnicks rapped a double and single and Comer had a two-bagger for the Vets. "Rock" Ingram with a double and single and Bill Thompson with three hits, including a triple, sparked the PPG attack.

The second overtime battle of the day was staged at Fort Hill where Loyal Order of Moose won over Ritter's Social Club in ten innings, 13 to 11. Ritter's blew a six-run lead.

A home run by Joe Niland with Don Lilya and Tommy Head on base won the game in the tenth.

Herman Lewis hit a two-run homer. John Esposito slammed two doubles and a single and Niland delivered the game winning homer for the Moose. "Skonk" Zimmerman socked a grand slam homer for Ritter's. John Yaider blasted a triple and two singles and Miles hit a three-bagger and single for the losers.

The BPO Elks trounced the Knights of Columbus at Campobello, 8 to 1.

Eleven hits were credited to the league's second place team and three were chalked up by Johnny Cox who larruped a homer, double and single, Bill under donk, who posted his fourth win against one loss, banged a triple and single and Bob Keyser had two one-base blows for the winners.

Stock Drivers Due Record Cut

TRENTON, N. J. — An all-time national record for prize money paid to stock car racing drivers looms for the entrants in the first annual Trenton "500," the 500-mile national championship event for 1955, 1956 and 1957 sedans and convertibles at the Trenton International Speedway on Monday, September 2 (Labor Day).

Presently pegged at a minimum of $20,000, the cash purse can soar to a record-setting high of $60,000 since it is based on 40 per cent of the gate receipts after taxes have been deducted.

The huge speedway, fastest in this part of the country, was inaugurated on June 23 with a 300-mile contest that was won by Californian Sam Hanks, who captured the Indianapolis Speedway 500-mile speedway car classic on Memorial Day. Hanks averaged close to 90 miles per hour in grabbing the opener on the new $500,000 raceway but estimates of 100 miles per hour are being heard for the Labor Day race.

Ellerslie Fails To Make Playoff

Ellerslie was eliminated from a possible playoff spot in the Pen-Mar Little League yesterday when it dropped a 12-3 decision to the LaVale Maroons on the Parkside field.

The loss was the second for Ellerslie in the round robin series involving three teams. The Maroons (2-9) and the Cresaptown D.A.V. (1-1) will clash tomorrow at 6 p.m., at Parkside.

Larry Snyder held Ellerslie to four hits and also headed his team's attack with a double and two singles. Dave Merrill blasted a triple for the Maroons. Lowery collected two hits and James Klahre pounded a homer for Ellerslie.

Nutter Again To Be Colts' No. 1 Center

(Fourth of a Series)

WESTMINSTER — (Special) — Until Dick Szymanski returns from the Army in mid-season, and maybe even after then, the Baltimore Colts' center problems will be in the care of Madison (Buz) Nutter, three-year pro from VPI.

Nutter played in all 12 of the club's games last year and his work proved more than satisfactory to coach Weeb Ewbank. He handled all the Colts' pivot work —except on kicking situations when Ken Jackson assumed the ball-snapping.

Behind Nutter at present is Bill Danenhauer of Emporia, who also plays defensive end, and Alex Sandusky, who is a defensive end turned offensive guard.

Where does Szymanski, the Notre Dame product who was the Colts' standout of 1955, come into the picture? That's what the Hosses would like to know. As things now stand, Szymanski will not be discharged from the Army until October.

It's Ewbank's belief that if Nutter continues to hold up his center duties, Szymanski might better be utilized as a linebacker, which is the principal reason the Colts made him their second draft pick in 1955.

As things stand at the moment, the linebacker positions are heavily populated. Regulars Bill Pellington, of Rutgers, and Doug Eggers, of South Dakota State—both originally signed as free agents—are returning along with Bill Koman, an aggressive sophomore pro from North Carolina.

Two highly-touted rookies also are in the linebacker scramble. They are Don Shinnick of UCLA, the outstanding defensive player in the East-West game, and his linebacking colleague, Billy Pricer of Oklahoma. Pricer, only 205 and small for a linebacker, made more tackles — 15 — than any other player in the East-West tilt, and is a standout blocker and punter. These attributes compensate for his lack of size.

Though veterans Pellington and Eggers have been turning back challengers for past years, their competition is tougher this year. But even Coach Ewbank, in the face of this youth, depth, experience, and ability, confesses he has more immediate concerns at present.

CARDS WIN CLOSE ONES

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals paced the National League at the half-way mark due to their good fortune in extra inning games. Of 20 games decided by one run, the Red Birds won 14. They had won 7 of 11 extra inning games.

Alfred Vanderbilt's horses have won the Maryland Futurity at Laurel Race Course four times since 1935.

Wilson Gets Test Tonight As Lion Boss

DETROIT—(INS)—George Wilson gets his first test as head coach of the Detroit Lions tonight when the team meets the Cleveland Browns in a pre-season game at Briggs Stadium.

The former Chicago Bear star was named yesterday to succeed Buddy Parker, who resigned suddenly Monday during a Lions' "booster" banquet in Detroit.

Members of the team expressed regret at Parker's leaving but gave Wilson a rousing welcome yesterday afternoon when Lions' president Edwin J. Anderson introduced him as their new boss.

Parker told nearly 600 fans at the eighth annual "Meet The Lions" banquet that he was "through with football in Detroit" because he couldn't handle the team.

Wilson disputed Parker's claim, saying:

"I think Parker was using this excuse to cover up his real reason for quitting. There has been no difficulty at any time between the team and Parker."

Wilson has his work cut out for him in debuting against the Browns. Parker's six-year record against Paul Brown's Cleveland team was 10 wins, one loss and one tie in exhibition, regular season and championship play.

Campbell To Make Final Try At Record

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y.—(INS)—British speedboat king Donald Campbell will make a final attempt to break his own world record on Canandaigua Lake on one of the next three days.

Campbell, in making the announcement yesterday, said he may make some evening runs on the lake, depending upon weather and course conditions.

The holder of the 225.3 miles-an-hour world record last took his 2-½ ton jet-propelled boat through its paces two weeks ago in a futile bid to crash the "water barrier."

Gene Sarazen, Guy Paulsen, Denny Shute, Bobby Cruickshank and August Nordone played in the 1931 National Open golf tournament and were competitors for 36 holes in the 1957 Open.

Next Patterson Bout Defended By Jack Kearns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"It's one of those things. The more it's panned, the more the people want it."

Veteran Jack Kearns, who piloted Jack Dempsey and a host of other boxing champions, so described the Aug. 22 bout in Seattle between heavyweight king Floyd Patterson and Olympic Titlist Pete Rademacher.

Dempsey is one of those who has condemned the bout, saying if anyone in the old days had proposed tossing an amateur in with the pro champ "he'd have been locked up."

Kearns, who knows more than his share of the tricks of drumming up interest in a fistic attraction to bring dollars rolling in, sees it differently.

He looks at the promotional aspect and sees the unique situation of pro vs. amateur building a large paying attendance.

"Rademacher did a good job of creating interest, too," observed Kearns since it was Pete's backers in Georgia who put up Patterson's $250,000 guarantee.

Of the bout itself, wily Jack observed Patterson should take the big amateur with ease. Then he added:

"If Rademacher should win it, you can bet we'll have all kinds of amateurs turning pro right away."

After playing in 40 games this season for the Chicago White Sox and hitting .185, pinch-hitter Ron Northey signed with the Phillies on July 30. That night he hit his first home run of the season, his ninth in the majors as a pinch hitter.

Preas' Illness 'Kidney Colic'

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—The illness of George Preas, 230-pound tackle of the Baltimore Colts, has been diagnosed as "kidney colic."

When Preas was first stricken at the National Football League team's training camp, it was feared he had acute appendicitis. He was taken to a Baltimore hospital where Dr. Erwin Mayer, team physician, said it was a kidney ailment instead.

Preas will miss the Colts' exhibition with the Philadelphia Eagles Saturday night at Hershey, Pa.

Freddie Dawson, former lightweight boxer, now trains fighters.

Gisele Mackenzie Ignored In NBC Ads As Big Star For Fall

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK — (INS) — "Sgt. Bilko" creator-owner Nat Hiken was offered a huge sum to write an NBC spectacular for the Marx Brothers but Nat can't because he's a satisfied CBS slave...Stripper Georgia Southern on "Entertainment Press Conference" last night came over as a very regular, forthright, honest heart-of-gold-type gal, by far the most articulate person on the show...

One of TV's tallest brasshats was taken away by the lads white coats, literally deluded that he was running all television...

One of these days Polly Bergen will give a straight answer on "To Tell the Truth" and startle everyone... but it's a good act.

Lisa Kirk won last night's plunging cleavage championship (Nat Cole's Show)...

How come NBC's trailers for upcoming TV shows haven't mentioned Gisele Mackenzie, who could quite easily join their small, potent circle of big stars (Perry, Groucho, Dinah)?...

Peggy King bats her eyes at Julius La Rosa Sat...Julius called the phone company yesterday to get a new number and the gal arranging the switch asked if someone would be home next day when the same gal would have to call back. Julie said sure, his wife. "Oh, that will be wonderful," sighed the phone phixer, "I've always wanted to talk to Debbie."

As we noted they would days ago, CBS okayed the deal to lend Polly Bergen for the NBC Sat. night series alternating with Dean Martin... Now that NBC problem is solved — but what about the ancient and basic law of show business routining: Starting with Perry Como's hour of song, NBC will have three full hours of singers—the Polly-Dean musicale leads into the Gisele Mackenzie songfest, followed by the Hit Parade, followed by ear plugs...

The Patrice Munsel Show (ABC-TV) already is having a tough time getting "name" guest stars as the sponsor was promised on a stack of options...

Smartest stroke of quick public relations thinking this season was John Foster Dulles' good humored reaction to Carol Burnett's lively "Love Song" to John Foster, which more than makes up for the old Winchell flippancy which went: "Dull, Duller, Dulles."

The son also rises, Dept.: Arthur Nielsen Jr. was elevated to president of the Nielsen Survey firm, by Arthur Sr., chairman...

Radio's still mighty solvent, especially local radio stations, so Art Linkletter bought Station KTKL, Tucson, Ariz. (with his producer John Guedel) for $100,000 and Bing Crosby's group shortly takes over L.A. Station KCOP (for $4,000,000)...

Joe Day, one of network radio's great old pros, an ex-concert pianist and vaudeville accompanist for Grace Larue, composer of "Chicken Reel" and other oldtime hits, retired as an NBC director. No one will ever have to toss a benefit for the well-heeled Joe.

Liquid Gold Stored In French 'Fort Knox'

REIMS, France — (INS) — This small, ancient town less than 100 miles from Paris may well be the Fort Knox of France.

More than 200,000,000 bottles of French champagne were counted in an inventory of storage caves in and around Reims, champagne capital of the world.

At an average of $5 per bottle, this "liquid gold" is worth more $1,000,000,000.

Two Little Kittens Have A Three-Legged Problem

ELYRIA, O.—(INS)—Customers at a Vermillion, O. market have a little trouble believing their eyes when they notice two little kittens tumbling across the floor.

It isn't that they don't believe kittens can tumble, but these two little felines have only three legs apiece. They are the survivors of a litter of five, each born with a missing hind leg.

Great volcanic eruptions throw so much fine dust into the air that "spectacular" sunsets follow for months afterwards.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my Father who passed away two years ago, August 13, 1955.

Daddy, how I miss those days when
We used to walk hand in hand.
I loved those days best of all,
When I could be with you.

Sadly missed by "Beanie"

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their many expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Ace Humbertson. We especially wish to thank Rev. C. Thomas Subock, those who sent gifts, floral tributes, donated the use of their cars, the pallbearers, and those who drove cars.

WIFE AND CHILDREN

The family of the late Frederick Kabosky wishes to thank their friends, neighbors and relatives for their expressions of kindness during their bereavement. They especially wish to thank Rev. Robert Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. James Scarpelli, those who sent Mass Cards, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral and to all others who in any manner rendered assistance.

WIFE, BROTHERS AND SISTERS

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Law Left Speechless By Honest Motorist

GRANTS PASS, Ore.—(INS)—The honesty of a motorist so startled Grants Pass police they failed to get his name.

The man walked into the station, plunked down four pennies and explained he had parked his car in a meter zone for an hour but one penny stuck in the slot all the time, so he figured he owed the city the other four.

Having paid his debt, the man walked out the door, leaving the officers pleasantly stunned and speechless.

Fear Of Dentist Termed Baseless

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(INS)—It may be hard to explain to the children, but a University of Michigan dentist says there's no need for a child to be afraid of the dentist.

Dr. Dorothy Hard, director of curriculum in the U of M School of Dentistry, contends:

"Going to the dentist can be an experience a child will look forward to, if the first introduction is handled properly.

"It's a good idea to take your child to a dentist close to his third birthday. Chances are remote that any work will be necessary, so the visit presents a good opportunity for your child to become acquainted with the dentist."

Dr. Hard suggests that children should be permitted to examine dental instruments and have it explained "they can be used without harm."

Australia is now establishing patrol posts in its trust territory of Papua, New Guinea, "to stop the native people killing or inflicting barbarous punishments on one another."

Jacoby On Bridge

Bridge Cake Had And Eaten

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

I am indebted to Dr. J. S. Flynn, of Ventura, Calif., for today's hand.

Dr. Flynn was declarer at four spades. West opened the ace of diamonds and continued with the five of hearts.

Dr. Flynn breathed a sigh of relief and won East's queen with his ace. He laid down his ace of spades and played a spade to dummy's king. When the queen dropped Dr. Flynn claimed the balance of the tricks.

It was pointed out that if West had played the ace of clubs at trick two East would have given him a vehement signal whereupon West could have played a second club. East would have won and played a diamond whereupon West would have ruffed and set the contract.

West contended that the ace of clubs lead would have been a double dummy play and that his partner was just as likely to hold the ace of hearts as the king of clubs.

The last statement by West is reasonably correct but his play of the five of hearts was very bad. He was in a position to have his cake and eat it too. All he had to do was to lay down the ace of clubs and see what his partner played. Holding the king of clubs East would play high; not holding the king of clubs East would play low.

In that latter case West could try the heart play. He would have found out conclusively that his partner did not hold the club king.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Mary Haworth Mail...

Editor's Note: Teen-age daughter, who despises nagging mother, admits to jealousy of her.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a girl 16, an only child, and the problem is my mother, whom I despise. Actually, that's how I feel. Nothing I do is right in her eyes, and sometimes I think I need psychiatric help. I have tried to be nice to her, but I can't.

Mother has been a job holder for the past nine years and I've practically raised myself since I was seven. Lately I have charge of cleaning the house during the day, and mother comes home in a dreadful mood. She is tired, understandably; but must she find fault with everything I do? Many times she has said she wishes she could leave.

My father had surgery three months ago and, since then, mother showers him with affection one minute and berates him the next. At times I think I am jealous deep-down; and I seem to be constantly nasty to her.

Need Mother Scream At Her?

Mother calls me scornful names and disdains my ideas and suggestions. For example, we plan to move to a better home soon, and she says I may invite my old friends to spend weekends in the guest room. But she won't listen to my ideas on how to finish the room.

Maybe I am selfish, in a way. But does she have to scream at me in public? My friends think she is a grand person because she is always nice to them. Yet she is always embarrassing me in their presence. Please help me.—C. B.

Commendably Open-Minded

DEAR C. B.: It is honest and generous of you to admit that your feelings are ugly and your attitude selfish (at least somewhat). Also it is smart to reflect that maybe you need psychiatric help. So right off, may I say: see what you can do for yourself along that line, if your mother won't take the lead in seeking light.

In a painful predictment such as yours, when parent and child are in bitter conflict, the parent is the pivotal figure, really. By which I mean, if the parent "gets right" in relation to the offending child — giving a good example that springs from the heart—the youngster will improve automatically.

But if the parent fails his or her obligation in this respect and blindly contributes to hateful feuding—on a childish level of sneering and sniping—then it is plainly necessary for the youngster to pull out of the fight and get expert counsel in protecting himself (or herself) from the parent's wrong example.

Here She Hits Nail On Head

Where to turn? In the city from which you write, the Family Service Society has neighborhood agencies, with counsellors well qualified to advise and represent young persons, in working out this type of strife with parents. Here you will be given psychiatric support or psychological teaching, as the case requires; and also you will have opportunity to get the whole load of bitterness off your chest.

In all likelihood you've hit a nail on the head, in reflecting that you are sometimes jealous of your mother's role, deep down. But probably she also is jealous of you — perhaps without being so readily honest in facing unpleasant facts about self as you are.

It may be seldom admitted, but it's not uncommon for mothers and daughters to become obscurely competitive and mutually rejecting, after the daughter arrives at adolescence and begins to fledge out into woman's ways.

One Antidote To Jealousy

Jealousy is a natural attribute—a weakness to which flesh is heir. And the supernatural grace of charity is its only remedy or antidote.

In this sense, I suppose it is natural for a girl or woman to most resent that adjacent female whose attractions (budding or fullblown) most nearly duplicate her own — thus threatening her sense of rare individual worth. Which may account for your special new peeve at your mother — and hers at you.

Whatever the story, you are bound to feel better as you talk things through with a Family Service counsellor.—M. H.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, August 15, 1957

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Make plans now for the balance of the week. Coordination of effort each day will be essential to real success. Maintain a sensible pace augumented by a well thought out schedule.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Day-dreaming is a pleasant form of relaxation in which we can all indulge at times—BUT at the proper times. When your schedule calls for action, produce! Things don't just happen; you must stimulate "breaks."

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Generally favorable rays for those with initiative. Preparation and follow-through will be important. A calm, constructive discussion with loved ones might well be on the agenda.

JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—Planetary rays are stimulating for worthwhile endeavors. But caution! Avoid impulsive moves. Study your goals, then proceed with planned proficiency.

JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Your aspects among the best today; be generous with those who are less favored. Don't be patronizing just because things are going well for YOU.

AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo — Handle situations as they arise with your usual dispatch and ability. Though some of the going may be rough, you may accomplish far more than you expect.

SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra) — Don't let routine get you down. Dress it up with a fresh, workable idea. New thoughts are always a stimulating tonic. Just be sure that they are based on logic.

OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 22 (Scorpio) — Let your actions mirror your thoughts and desires. Then consider whether you are pleased with the reflection. Take steps to finish important tasks before handling the less essential.

NOVEMBER 23 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Don't deviate from your program, except in emergency. Concentrate on accomplishing what you set out to do. Do not underestimate your competition.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 20 (Capricorn) — Perform chores cheerfully and with the courageous spirit inherent in the better you. Work out a definite plan for the things you must do. Eliminate waste motion.

JANUARY 21 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Avoid making hasty decisions. Be especially cautious in finances, business affairs. Your analytical abilities should help you weed out detrimental suggestions, corral the good.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—Be alert to opportunities lest they bypass you. Others interested in you can help now, but you must initiate the movement.

YOU BORN TODAY have many talents—usually hidden, because YOU have not uncovered them. There is always opportunity IF you KEEP TRYING — and believing. "Breaks" are made by hard-driving individuals 99% of the time. You are courageous, impulsive, personable, full of fun, fond of amusement. Don't indulge extremes. You follow with zeal, or denounce with bitterness; correct this to read: "follow carefully with zeal, denounce only when principles are at stake." You would make an able physician, nurse, military leader, actor, religious. Birthdate of: Napoleon I; Sir Walter Scott, Scottish novelist-poet.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Prize Winning Architect Accents Flexibility In New Construction

Warren H. Ashley, of West Hartford, Conn., is one of the nation's top school architects. This year he won one of six First Honor Awards from the American Institute of Architects.

By WARREN H. ASHLEY

We must not wait for tomorrow to build the "school of tomorrow."

We have learned this lesson from schools built only one or two decades ago. They were planned as permanent monuments. Today they are outmoded. They have put many of today's educational programs into a straitjacket.

We cannot afford to repeat this error. The schools we build today must be flexible enough to meet the needs of the future.

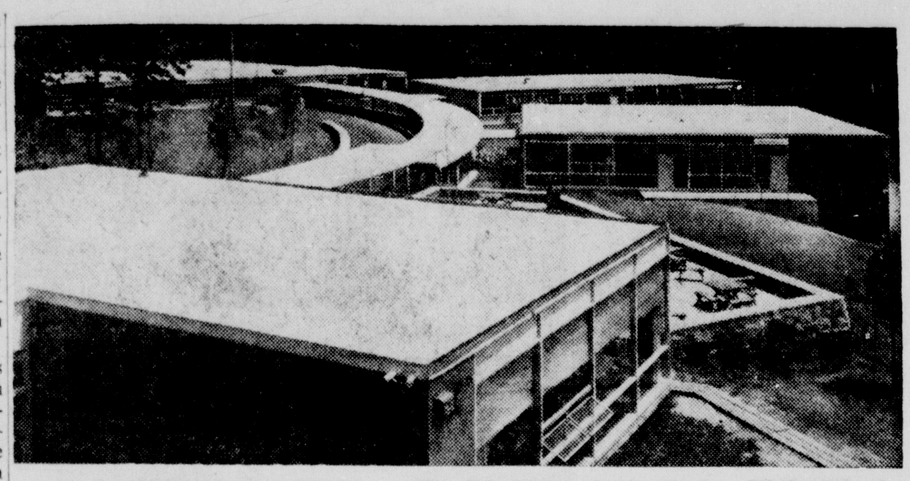

This does not mean we must indulge in science-fiction — design buildings based rigidly on the idea that every student will take full courses in rocket flight. We will be wise, however, if we plan schools adaptable to revolutionary changes in education.

But most of all we must meet the basic changes that can already be seen today — and taken as a certainty for the future. These include growth of population, longer school life, more community recreational demands.

Are we meeting these approaching needs realistically? In many cases we are not.

We are already building schools for 1,000 to 1,600 students. When we try to provide for bigger enrollments by merely making traditional school designs bigger, we force the school program into a pattern of mass movement, congestion and confusion.

For the past several years, I have given much of my effort to the development of what is ordinarily called the "campus-style" school. It replaces as much corridor space as possible with educational space.

AWARD-WINNING SCHOOL... The Edgemont Junior-Senior High School in Greenburgh, N. Y., for which architect Warren H. Ashley won a top award. It illustrates his ideas about flexibility.

It offers one way of lightening the economic burden. More important, it offers a way of keeping the privacy, comfort, and close contacts of the small school in the coming era of big enrollments.

The separate classroom buildings can be used to divide and minimize bigness. Each unit may house a separate academic department, a separate age-class group, or even a self-sufficient "school within a school."

We must also put a great deal more thought into the site of our school of tomorrow. In many cases it will be the logical location for new buildings for a community junior college. In many more cases, adults will come for classes, athletics, cultural events, which will increase as leisure time increases.

Finally it will be a place where the schools must keep up to increasingly complex educational demands. It is likely to require room for a central television studio or an electronic "brain" research center.

We must make classroom space more flexible. We continue to build too many classrooms with rigid walls for a rigid optimum total of 30 students, and auditoriums used one quarter of one day a week.

The school of tomorrow—which we can build today — should offer a place for one teacher to guide a research project involving four talented students. It should offer a place for one exceptional teacher and four teacher aides to conduct a class of 100 or more. Both types of classes are being carried out in some schools today.

Bigger enrollments — bigger educational responsibilities—bigger adult participation — bigger variety in education — our school of tomorrow must meet all of these challenges.

And if we make our schools adaptable to these challenges, we can build the school of tomorrow today.

In Fact, Man It Was Crazy

DENVER — (INS) — Eleven-year-old John Dezzutti of Denver used the language of the times to tell of his harrowing experience of falling off a bridge into a river and being rescued by another youth. Dezzutti said:
